Norfolk Set For Vote On Negro Issue

Tennessee School Officials To Air Problems In D. C.

By The Associated Press

A new facet of the school integration struggle—who is liable in case of destructive acts?—will be discussed during a high-level conference at the White House today.

The conference was sought with President Eisenhower by four officials from Anderson County, Tenn. after Clinton High School was wrecked by a bomb. It wasn't known whether the President would join in the talks, but special assistants Rocco Siciliano and Ed McCabe planned to meet with the Tennessee delegation.

Representing racially troubled Anderson County are Frank Wilson, acting county attorney; R. G. Crossno and O. C. Mays, School Board members; and County Judge J. D. Yarnell.

FBI Pushes Probe

Officials estimate damage to Clinton's high school at $300,000.

The FBI pressed an investigation into the Sunday dynamite explosions.

Elsewhere on the integration front, the Norfolk, Va., City Council announced plans for a referendum to determine public sentiment on racially integrated schools.

A petition by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People seeking reopening of integration-closed schools in Front Royal and Charlottesville, Va., will be heard today by Federal Judge John Paul.

On a more peaceable front, a Newport News minister, the Rev. John F. Williams, says Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. of Virginia has promised consideration of a proposal by Williams for a biracial conference to restore "the torn-down communication lines between the races."

In Little Rock, Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas accused the federal government of trying to penalize him for his fight for state's rights. He cited extra personal tax demands and "pressure in other ways." The Internal Revenue Service in Little Rock said it had erred in preparing a tax claim against Faubus, and claimed the head office in Washington knew nothing of it.

Faubus, who closed schools ordered to integrate, said he expects the Little Rock Private School Corp. to open private segregated schools by about Oct. 15.

Churches Smeared

Other highlights on the integration front included:

"Signs proclaiming "Welcome niggers" were painted on two Knoxville, Tenn., Presbyterian churches. Police blamed racial extremists.

A federal court at Memphis, Tenn., was asked to dismiss a Negro's suit asking full use of public library facilities for Negroes.

Also in Memphis, Federal Judge Marion S. Boyd has under consideration a request by the state to dismiss a school desegregation suit filed by four Negroes. The state contends the Negroes must first go through state courts.

Russ Threat Forecast In UN Debate

Challenge Issued By U. S. For Reds Explain Statement

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A bitter arms debate loomed in the U.N. today as the Soviet Union threatened to match U.S. and British nuclear weapon tests blast for blast. The United States challenged the Soviets to make clear their intentions.

The Assembly's top Political Committee was expected to give priority to the disarmament question. The Soviet Union and India put in resolutions calling for an immediate stop to nuclear tests. The United States was working on a resolution of its own.

Gromyko Makes Thrust

He said lack of Western agreement to halt nuclear weapon tests will compel the Soviet government to continue its explosions until it has reached the total touched off by the United States and Britain combined.

The Soviet delegation said later that Gromyko was referring to the Western tests that have taken place since the Soviet Union announced March 31 that it was suspending test explosions. The Soviets resumed the tests Sept. 30, saying this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not stopped their testing.

U. S. Sends Query

After Gromyko's statement, the State Department queried whether the Soviet Union would accept the British and American invitation to join in a one-year suspension of nuclear weapon tests beginning Oct. 31. On that date the Big Three meet in Geneva to try to negotiate a permanent ban on the testing.

Some Western circles viewed Gromyko's warning as partly a propaganda move and partly an apology for the Soviet Union's having resumed tests after announcing a unilaterial decision to suspend them.

Rome Hears Holy Father 'Going Fast'

False Report That He Had Died Adds To Rising Tension

By FRANK BRUTTO

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—Pope Pius XII was near death today after a second stroke.

His heart weakened, and his doctors had little hope that he could survive.

The second stroke came this morning, two days after the first.

"The Pope is going fast," was the word in this town where the 82-year-old spiritual leader of the Roman Catholic Church was stricken.

A member of the papal household was reported by a Castel Gandolfo police official to have sent that message to the Italian government.

False Report Denied

Heightening the emotional tension were false reports that the Pope had died this morning. The Italian news agency Italia issued one such report. The Vatican officially denied it.

It was reliably reported that the Pope had been given Extreme Unction — the last rite for the dying or those in danger of death — for the second time. It had been given for the first time as he lay in a coma Monday after his first stroke.

At noon (6 a.m. EST), a Vatican radio broadcaster, speaking from the Pope's antechamber, said at the time the Pope was "resting."

He added that the condition of the pontiff was unchanged from that reported in the medical bulletin which several hours before had announced the second stroke and said the Pope had made some slight improvement.

The broadcaster said the Pope's temperature was 37 degrees centigrade (98.6 Fahrenheit), normal, but his pulse was 103, very high.

The radio spokesman added that "at that moment" the pontiff was in a state of lethargy, "probably under the effects of tranquilizers administered to him."

The second attack was of the same type as that which felled the pontiff Monday, a cerebral circulatory attack which produced coma and partial paralysis.

It came on him at 7:30 a.m. (1:30 a.m., EST), just 47 hours after the first stroke.

It was learned unofficially at the Vatican press office that the Pope's heart was weakening and had become irregular after the second attack.

The Vatican radio said the pontiff had regained consciousness for a time and requested Holy Communion but was unable to swallow the host, the thin wafer of unleavened bread representing the body and blood of Christ.

Given Absolution

He was then given Absolution—forgiveness of sins—and apparently became unconscious again soon after.

Prelates of the pontifical court were called urgently to Castel Gandolfo, presumably to make initial arrangements in connection with the grave turn in the pontiff's condition and its possible consequences.

Three of the four specialists who had been keeping constant vigil at the Pope's bedside were with him when the second stroke came.

The Vatican radio announced the second collapse in a special hookup direct from his summer palace here at Castel Gandolfo.

The Rev. Francesco Pellegrini, a noted Jesuit orator, told the radio audience that "a new factor which was anything but tranquilizing" had struck the pontiff.

"This is not a good sign," Father Pellegrini said. He added that, contrary to the hopeful atmos-

U. S. Hopeful Red China To Extend Truce

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials expressed hope today that Red China will convert its seven-day truce in the Formosa Strait into a permanent, dependable cease-fire.

That view will probably be expressed later this week to the Chinese Reds in diplomatic talks under way at Warsaw. U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam is scheduled to meet the Chinese envoy, Wang Ping-nan, Friday.

If the Reds are willing to extend their cease-fire indefinitely, the way will be open for active U.S.-Chinese Communist negotiations for a compromise settlement of the eight-year-old Formosa dispute. At least, it will be open so far as the United States is concerned.

But while there was hope, there was no real optimism here about a permanent cease-fire. Actually, the U.S. government does not know what the Communists aimed at in announcing Sunday that their shelling of Quemoy Island would be suspended for a full week.

Secretary of State Dulles, returning from a four-day vacation, said the halt in shooting "assures worldwide condemnation of the Chinese Communists if they again resume the fighting."

Washington's speculation that they may not start up again was based in part on the possibility that they would want to avoid such adverse public opinion.

It also was based on the belief here that the Reds may figure they are not making any further profit out of their massive bombardment of Quemoy and stand to gain now from playing a peaceful line for a time.

Warmup Due In This Area

BALTIMORE (AP) — Five-day forecast: Temperatures will average five to eight degrees above normal. Mild through Sunday, then cooler Monday. Chance of a few showers near the coast on Thursday, and in the mountains on Friday, with scattered showers over the state during the period.

Lows vary from 47-53 in the east to 37-46 in the west.

Janice Sinks Haitian Boat, 18 Disappear

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Janice, the season's most deadly storm, spun its winds of 75 m.p.h. in the open Atlantic today, a menace to unwary sailors. Its victims numbered 19.

Janice was located early today about 455 miles east of Jacksonville.

Reconnaissance aircraft and ships reported Janice was moving between north northeast and northeast at 8 m. p. h. The Weather Bureau said the course would keep the storm's center well off the East Coast of the United States.

Gale warnings were lowered south of Wilmington, N.C., to Vero Beach but continued to fly south of Cape Hatteras, N. C., to Wilmington.

Janice became a killer when it whipped through Bahama waters Tuesday on a drive to the open sea. A 45-foot Haitian sloop, trying to make shore in heavy seas, swamped and 18 persons aboard were drowned.

In earlier tropical storms this season, one death was attributed to Alma, the first, and five to Ella, the fifth.

Young Pilot Takes Off In Huge Balloon

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP)—A huge helium-filled plastic balloon rose majestically from the New Mexico desert at 6:30 a.m. today carrying a young military scientist on a flight aimed at the stratosphere.

Lt. Clifton McClure, 25-year-old jet pilot, was sealed into the gondola of the balloon again Tuesday night.

A launching attempt failed Tuesday morning when a ground wind whipped the big three-million-cubic-foot Project Man High balloon as it was being filled with gas. It finally was destroyed. A substitute balloon was used today.

Officials estimated it would take two to three hours for him to reach the altitude goal of 100,000 feet where he hopes to remain for 24 hours.

He will serve as the eyes and hands of a panel of scientists on the ground who will question him about his observations during the long flight.

Weather conditions were such that officials figured he would drift eastward from Alamogordo then back over the missile range about sunset.

McClure is the third pilot for the Air Force's Project Man High. He hopes to ride up about 20 miles and stay there 24 hours while a panel of scientists question him about the things he observes.

Moscow Closes Bureau Of CBS

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet government has ordered the Columbia Broadcasting System to close its Moscow bureau immediately in retaliation for a number of alleged anti-Soviet plays and broadcasts the network has carried.

The press department of the Foreign Ministry today summoned Paul Niven, CBS correspondent here, and read to him this statement:

"Of late, CBS has presented a number of anti-Soviet broadcasts and TV programs, notably a play 'Plot To Kill Stalin.'"

Rally Delayed, Speakers Land At Wrong Spot

AHOSKIE, N.C. (AP)—The welcoming committee had returned empty-handed from an airport and it looked as if the Democratic rally would fizzle. When Gov. Luther Hodges and Sen. B. Everett Jordan (D-NC) arrived, it was in a farmer's rattling pickup truck.

"We finally hitched a ride," Hodges explained.

Others explained the governor's plane had landed at the wrong airport.

Cypriot Underground Denies Killing Woman

NICOSIA (AP)—EOKA today denied it was responsible for killing a British woman in Famagusta last Friday. British authorities had blamed the slaying on EOKA.

Ohio Justice Faces Scrutiny By Solons

WASHINGTON (AP)—Judge Potter Stewart of Cincinnati, whose appointment to the U.S. Supreme Court was announced Tuesday, probably will undergo unusually close Senate scrutiny into his legal philosophy.

This is not because of the man, but because of the times.

Stewart's selection by President Eisenhower to succeed retiring Justice Harold H. Burton, also from Ohio, comes at a time when the Supreme Court has become a major center of controversy. Its rulings on school segregation have been denounced in some quarters, while others have criticized its findings in Communist cases.

The appointment was announced less than 24 hours after the disclosure that Burton was retiring on the advice of his physician.

Stewart, a 43-year-old Republican, now is a judge of the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals. Eisenhower appointed him to that position in April, 1954.

Under a recess appointment, Stewart will be able to take his place on the nation's highest judicial tribunal immediately after Burton's retirement becomes effective next Monday.

When Congress reconvenes in January, his nomination to the $35,000-a-year lifetime post will be sent to the Senate for confirmation.

The new appointee told questioning newsmen Tuesday that as a circuit judge, he has had a part in deciding only one school segregation case — an Ohio dispute where the court ruled for prompt integration.

Stewart was recommended for the nomination by Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio).

Stewart said his selection took him by surprise. He came here Tuesday morning for a conference with Eisenhower after a rush call from Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers.

Five of the nine Supreme Court justices, including Chief Justice Earl Warren, now have been appointed by Eisenhower. The political division remains at five Democrats and four Republicans.

Space Flight Forecast Has A. F. Baffled

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Roy W. Johnson, the nation's space boss, says plans are afoot to shoot a man into space in 24 to 36 months.

The remark, inserted with little elaboration into a prepared speech Tuesday night, stumped available Pentagon sources. They said he might be referring to the Air Force X15 project.

The X15, a jet plane, has a greater potential for speed and altitude than any yet manufactured. Due to be unveiled Oct. 15, it is expected to hit speeds between 3,200 and 4,500 m.p.h. and carry a pilot up to 200 miles above the earth.

Johnson, director of the Advanced Research Projects Agency of the Defense Department, spoke at the dedication of the CBS Laboratories Research Center here.

Newsmen reached him at his home here later, but he would not say whether a specific type of vehicle for the space man was in mind.

Wild Indian Makes Tracks That Puzzled Californians

SEATTLE (AP)—A taxidermist says Big Foot, the creature whose huge, human-like footprints have the people of the Weitchpec area of northern California guessing, is an Indian gone wild.

Al Corbett said he and another Seattle taxidermist, Bob Titmus, inspected the tracks 25 miles north of Weitchpec last Saturday and found the prints to be "very large, definitely human, tracks."

Corbett said the clearest print was 16 inches long, 5 inches across at the heel and 7 inches across at the ball of the foot.

A logger in the area, Gerald Crew, last week brought out a plaster cast of a clear footprint.

"The story behind this is that there was a mentally deficient Indian boy who was kept chained by his parents," Corbett said.

"When this boy was 17 years old, 28 years ago, he broke the chains and disappeared. The Indians found his clothes but never saw him again. They said he had extremely large feet.

"We talked it over a great deal and figured this man now must be 6 feet 7 inches to 7 feet 6 inches tall. We thought he might weigh as much as 400 pounds. He made firm footprints in hard ground."

Butler Also Assails His Reaction To Criticism

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) —Foreign policy ballooned into a major campaign issue today with Democrats and Republicans trading stinging criticisms of each other's approach to handling international communism.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) and Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler lashed out Tuesday night at what they called the Eisenhower administration's attempt to impose political censorship on critics of its foreign policies.

The twin blasts indicated the Democrats intend to keep on discussing the issue until election day.

Republicans in turn attacked the Democratis criticisms.

Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn said the Democrats "seem politically willing to undermine American diplomacy during this most serious challenge." He accused them of favoring appeasement of Red China in the Quemoy crisis.

GOP National Committee spokesmen said they expect Eisenhower to have some sharp words for his critics when the President begins personal campaigning next week.

Humphrey, vice chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, accused Eisenhower of attempting "to stifle public discussion of the Quemoy crisis."

The senator, in a speech to the International Chemical Workers Union, said: "Such political censorship can only lead to one conclusion: that administration policies can't stand public examination."

In a similar vein, Butler said the administration is trying to make it appear that criticism of its foreign policy is "somehow treasonable."

Butler, speaking to a Democratic dinner in Wichita, Kan., called this a "despicable tendency of this desperate administration."

Drivers Shun Plea To Take Strangling Boy To Hospital

WORCESTER, Mass. (UPI)—A school bus driver, trying to rush a boy near death to a hospital, almost failed to make it Tuesday when motorists refused to heed his pleas for help. One said he would be "late to work."

The boy, seven-year-old Francis McNamara, had swallowed a colored crayon while riding home on the school bus. His schoolmates told bus driver John J. Wood Jr., 27, that the youngster was choking to death.

Wood gathered Francis into his arms, ran into the middle of the street and tried to flag down passing motorists, hoping to reach a hospital faster than in the bus. None would stop.

In desperation, Wood jumped in front of an automobile whose driver was forced to halt. Wood quickly explained the situation and asked for a ride to the hospital. The motorist refused, saying he would be late for work.

Wood jumped back into his bus but found himself tied up in traffic. He again carried the lad into the street and finally found a motorist willing to make the dash to the hospital.

Bank Robber Confession May Free Another Man

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The alleged confession of a Cincinnati bank robber in Eastern State Penitentiary to a Covington, Ky., bank holdup may free another man sentenced to 20 years imprisonment for the crime.

The alleged confession of Clyde Cope, 31, a former Cincinnati bartender, was revealed in federal court here Tuesday when Judge John W. Lord granted a habeas corpus writ to permit Copes' removal to Covington for the new trial hearing Oct. 24 of Willard B. Smith.

Smith was convicted by a jury at a three-day trial of holdup of the Covington bank last March 7. He maintained his innocence throughout the trial but 20 prosecution witnesses implicated him in the robbery.

Cope and Leonard T. Ivey, 24, of Covington, were sentenced at nearby West Chester, Pa., on Aug. 29 after they pleaded guilty to the $25,000 holdup of the Elverson, Pa., National Bank last July 31. Cope, who allegedly admitted a long criminal record including four bank robberies in the Cincinnati area, was sentenced to 7 1-2 to 15 years and fined $500.

Ivey, who was described by Cope as "just a green kid who went along," was given a 5 to 10 year sentence and fined $500. A charge of armed robbery against them was not pressed after Cope said the "weapon" used in the daylight holdup was a simulated shotgun made of wood and pipe. It never was found.

All the loot from the Elverson bank was recovered when Cope and Ivey were captured three hours after a gun duel with FBI agents and state police in which Ivey was wounded.

Rome Hears

phere at Castel Gandolfo Tuesday, today there was only anxiety and frantic anxiety.

It was the second time the 82-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church and spiritual leader of some 500 million Catholics has been near death.

Four years ago a serious illness struck the pontiff, 261st in a long series of sovereigns who sat on St. Peter's throne.

At that time the Pope rallied and recovered because of what was described as "the heart of a lion."

He regained his strength and once again assumed a tremendous burden of work that has generally been considered one of the heaviest ever carried by a pope n) iest ever carried by a pope in the 2,000-year history of the Roman Catholic Church.

The pontiff carried that burden fully, often despite medical advice.

Last week he suffered a recurrence of the hiccups and gastritis with which his illness began four years ago. He persisted in his heavy load of administrative work and audiences here at the papal summer residence, but finally curtailed his program at his doctors' insistence over the weekend.

Moments before he was struck down Monday he had said Mass at the little private chapel of his summer residence and received communion. He was preparing to resume work in his private library when the attack hit him.

"My God! I cannot see! I cannot see!" he was quoted as saying.

As he had four years ago, the pontiff showed great powers of will and physical endurance. Again he rallied and for a time it was hoped he was once more on the way to recovery.

Adult life of the May fly ends within a few hours because the insect cannot digest food.

Specialist Says Youth 'Collapse' Helps His Back

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — When a teen-ager slouches into a room and collapses into a chair like a big hunk of liver he is doing something good for his back, a bone specialist said today.

The slump, when it results in a forward curvature of the lower backbone, causes a distribution of weight burden and lessens the pressure on the discs between the vertebrae, said Dr. Loren L. Stephens of Arcadia, Calif.

Bad for the back, Dr. Stephens told the California Academy of General Practice, is the ramrod-straight sitting position, in which the lower part of the spine is made to bow rearward.

Former Major General Takes Over In Pakistan

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — President Iskander Mirza ruled Pakistan under martial law today after abolishing the government to clear the way for writing a new constitution.

Mirza pledged Pakistan to honor all international commitments. The nation has a mutual defense treaty with the United States and belongs to two anti-Communist alliances, the Baghdad Pact and the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Mirza, a 59-year-old former major general, took over Tuesday with strong criticism of politicians who have led Pakistan from one political crisis to another since the British separated the Moslem nation from India in 1947.

He named Gen. Mohammed Ayub Khan, commander in chief of the Pakistani army, as chief martial law administrator and placed all armed forces under him.

Mirza annulled the constitution, dissolved the central and provincial governments and abolished the national and provincial assemblies. The two provinces of Pakistan, separated by 900 miles of India, contain about 81 million persons.

The President said he would call together "a number of patriotic persons to examine problems in the political field and devise a constitution more suitable to the genius of the Moslem people."

"When it is ready and at an appropriate time, it will be submitted to a referendum of the people," he added.

Collector Makes Money 'Checking His Change'

CLARINGTON, Ohio—Who said that pennies are practically worthless?

Not in the case of Andrew R. Repco, 24, of Clarington.

Repco actually is making money just by "checking his change." Since he began his coin-collecting hobby 15 years ago he has accumulated coins worth over a thousand dollars.

The pennies, in this particular case, were the first Lincoln head type printed with the initials "VBD." The initials were of the man who designed the penny.

Repco has found two such pennies. Each is worth $60, according to a coin collector's book. He also has other rare pennies, dimes, silver dollars and dollar bills.

One of Repco's prized coins is a $10 bill of the Diamond Bank of Pittsburgh in 1902. It has William McKinley's picture on it.

Repco received coins from Europe during World War II from friends with the armed forces there. He also has coins from the Far East, including yen from Japan and hwan from Korea.

Repco is a senior at Ohio University where he is majoring in geology.

Mine Workers Issue Report On Legislators

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The latest edition of the United Mine Workers Union Journal gave one senator and one congressman from West Virginia seeking re-election unfavorable ratings on its scoreboard.

Using 22 "key" issues during the 85th Congress as a basis for preparation of its "scoreboard" the union noted that Sen. Chapman Revercomb (R-W. Va.) voted "right" 13 times and "wrong" six times.

Then the Journal said Sen. John D. Hoblitzell (R-W. Va.) had only a 5-16 score on the same issues. Revercomb was absent for three votes, Hoblitzell one.

Twelve "key" votes were used for the House of Representatives scoreboard. Only Rep. Will E. (R) failed to pass this "test" among West Virginia congressman had a "wrong" vote on the issues. Republican Arch A. Moore was "wrong" only one time out of 12.

Four Unhurt In Air Crash

PATUXENT, Md. (AP) — Four crewmen escaped injury yesterday when a twin-engine Navy Beechcraft made an emergency landing on a farm 10 miles south of the Patuxent Naval Air Station.

A helicopter brought the men back to the base for medical checkups within 15 minutes of the forced landing. The plane landed on a field on the farm of Mathias Mueller near Webster Field.

The Navy said the SNB, attached to Airborne Early Warning Squadron 2 at Patuxent, went down during a routine training flight. It sustained only minor damage to its landing gear.

Some Episcopalians Annoyed By Frills

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Some Episcopalians are annoyed by social frills connected with church meetings.

In fact, they've launched a move to eliminate some of the customary pomp and niceties.

One longstanding institution under attack today at the church's triennial general convention is the official reception line.

It's brutal, said a resolution introduced by the Rev. William H. Cole of Syracuse, N. Y., asking that the practice be abolished.

"The traditional and pleasant custom of the official reception has become a burden, hardly less than plain cruelty," the resolution said.

For instance, the one here Monday night lasted three hours. Thousands of persons filed by to shake hands with the presiding bishop, honored guests and their wives. About 15,000 church visitors are here.

"One's hand does get a bit number," an official remarked.

Another resolution said it looks bad for the church to keep holding its conventions in resort areas known for free-spending, recreation, and fancy living.

Convening in such atmosphere makes it appear that "money is being diverted from church purposes for our luxury," said The Rev. Lloyd Gressle of Bloomington, Del., who introduced the resolution.

"The serious business of the church becomes suspect in the world's eyes," he added.

The last convention, in 1955, was in Hawaii. The one here is at the sumptuous Deauville Hotel. Both are famed as pleasure haunts.

Moreover, Episcopalians have been laboring for years to shake off an old attitude that their church represents the socially elite of protestantism.

The resolution asked that the next convention three years hence be held in a more appropriately austere environment of some college or university.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the Flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Better And Better

FROM TIME to time American industrial civilization is assailed as seeming to put a premium on material things which don't last. This is the land where we trade in cars, TV sets, vacuum cleaners, refrigerators and a host of other items for new models every few years. We even bounce around a lot from house to newer house. Our critics say we don't build for permanence, that we always have an eye on the "replacement market" as a means of keeping the economy flowing at high pace.

CERTAINLY no businessman worth his salt sniffs disdainfully at the idea of a good, steady replacement market. It gives his business a welcome element of stability. But it is quite shortsighted and unfair to assert that because our economy is rooted in constant change that we therefore build shabbily. Shoddy producers there are, and always have been. But they are a tiny minority. The fact is, as the magazine Business Week currently notes, that a powerful generating force behind this continual change is a "willingness—even eagerness—to scrap something perfectly good in order to get something better." One of the reasons we are world industrial leaders is that we never rest with what we have but are always seeking to improve our plant, our processes and our products. Even before the great Russian challenge, we understood that to be content with what we had just because it was "good" was to court economic stagnation.

IT'S A FUNNY thing that this approach draws criticism in the realm of peacetime industry but is considered vital in the defense field. With weapons, the premium is always upon change to incorporate the latest advances. There is great fear of "freezing" production of obsolete models which could give a more progressive enemy crucial advantage. The principle of steady change to turn out better and better products obviously gives vibrant life to the whole fabric of our economy. Sticking to it is absolutely essential if we are to exert leadership in both the goods of peacetime living and the weapons of defense.

Old Friend In News

IT'S DIFFICULT these days to discover the point where science fiction ends and Space Age realities start. This is especially true for the more elderly among us. But there's one fact that those who tend to be confused can cling to. This is it: The fuel used to hurl the biggest of these new-fangled satellites up there in space is kerosene. Of course it's mixed up with liquid oxygen to make it burn faster, but that kerosene is an old friend for a lot of fellows. They're the guys who used to cork the spout of the "oil can" with a potato. They learned early that to pour smoothly out of the spout you have to loosen the cap on the opposite side to let air in. They know the stuff stains like the very dickens and their mothers would holler if they didn't use a funnel to get the "oil" neatly into the little openings in the lamps. And a lot of them will never forget the funny taste when they got dosed with old-fashioned "cold remedies" like kerosene and sugar and kerosene mixed with goos grease. Wow! That stuff was powerful. Science is just finding out?

Sound Your El

ANYONE WHO thinks the United States has international headaches ought to consider the plight of El Salvador. This little nation tucked into Central America near Guatemala and Honduras has one problem that our State Department experts don't have to contend with at all. The problem is that people are careless about what they call El Salvador. A lot of them, including members of the world diplomatic corps who surely ought to know better, call it merely Salvador. This irks citizens of the tiny republic. It irks them to such a degree that the Legislative Assembly has passed a law declaring that diplomatic or other letters not correctly addressed to El Salvador are to be ignored. Even the radio stations have joined in with spot announcements that say, "The name of our republic is El Salvador." Well, the name of our republic is the United States of America, and we'll try to sound our "El" from now on.

Gov. Knight Turns His Back On Knowland

SACRAMENTO — Republican Governor Goodwin J. Knight has sped the parting guest, Vice President Nixon, with an outright refusal to endorse Republican Senator William F. Knowland for the Governorship.

Nixon had argued that what Knight needed to win the U. S. Senate seat vacated by Knowland was the Republicans Knight lost in the primary. The Governor hardly paused to glance at those birds in the bush. They don't like him and it's mutual—in spades.

Instead Knight is toying with a brink of his own—the brink of outright repudiation of Knowland. Over the weekend he edged close to it with a public hint that he might not vote for Knowland in November. Significantly, too, he broke his long silence on the big Trinity River water project here and endorsed Federal construction of its power facilities. This again puts him with the Democrats and directly at odds with Knowland.

HE HAS never really seen any reason to associate himself with Knowland whom he thinks was doomed from the start by his zealous commitment to the right-to-work initiative. It was not lost on Knight that Nixon himself ducked that issue while here, though as a Californian, Nixon will find it on the ballot he casts in November.

The Governor has noted also the continuing and ever larger Democratic totals in the registrations just concluded. Unofficial reports say that the new Democratic recruits out-number Republicans 3 to 1 and that this obtains in the state's four most populous counties. Democrats already had a 3-2 edge in registration.

This "speaks for itself," according to Knight. It also speaks for his determination to hang on to his friends in the opposition party on whom his whole hope of defeating Rep. Clair Engle rests.

THE VICE President also found the state party's treasury in sad state, one report having it that contributions were running only a fifth of the campaign's estimated cost. Nixon worked over the GOP fat cats in a series of private meetings, holding out to them the specter of disaster at the polls by which they would lose all their long hold on state government.

In between these cold turkey talks he publicly rallied the GOP troops in his old vein. They still like it and he showed clearly that the old Nixon can be turned on and off like a faucet as circumstances dictate.

It did not leave him much time to be the new 1960 Nixon, a role in which he was further and fatally handicapped by the Eisenhower-Dulles revolving door diplomacy in the Quemoy-Matsu area.

ON HIS arrival here, Nixon went on television with a pointer and a map defending the hard line. But by then the Secretary of State had softened it.

After a telephone call to Dulles and the Eisenhower press conference, Nixon caught up in rather vaguely worded comments to the Washington reporters accompanying him. But then Chiang complained vociferously, and was soothingly reassured by Dulles.

In still another huddle with his press party, the Vice President wiped his brow and made a gallant effort to explain everything. It was purely a rhetorical exercise and he knew it.

THE CURIOUS course of Washington also provoked Senator Knowland into his first campaign comments on that Pacific constituency he has been charged with representing in the Senate. Choosing his words with apparent care, Knowland said he fully supports the President in not allowing Quemoy and Matsu to be taken by force or the threat of force. A strong position, he insisted, will mean less rather than more danger of war.

Demos Second After Labor As GOP Target

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The role of organized labor's political activity in this year's election campaign is a funny one.

From the Republican point of view, it would appear that the GOP is more frightened of union political action groups than it is of the Democratic party.

At COPE — the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education — the saying is that "The GOP is running against Walter Reuther in 21 states."

These would be 18 northeastern states and the three Pacific coast states where unions are strongest. South of the Ohio and west of the Mississippi to the Rockies, COPE admittedly doesn't cut much ice, though it has paper organizations in 48 states.

REUTHER, of course, isn't running for anything. He has been in serious trouble all year, trying to get new contracts for his United Auto Workers. Its treasury has been hard hit by the recession. Reuther isn't considered nearly as big a guy or as big a threat as he was two years ago.

It was the activity of COPE — which supported Democratic candidates in Maine's September election with such telling results — that gave the GOP its scare.

Anti-COPE and anti-Reuther campaigns have been stepped up since then, though GOP spokesmen insist they aren't antilabor.

Most of the text is excerpts from testimony before Senator McClellan's labor rackets investigation.

The first section takes the UAW and Reuther apart. The second section deals with minor labor bosses. But excerpts from the testimony of Teamster boss James R. Hoffa are missing. Reuther is the villain, not Hoffa.

THIRD section of the GOP document lists labor union political expenditures in 1956. It is based on reports which all political organizations must make to Congress.

In summary, it shows that eight of the principal union political action groups out of 40 reporting made contributions to about 925 campaign funds for a total of $1,620,000. There are many duplications. The average contribution was $175, which isn't very big.

The eight groups were COPE, Auto Workers, Steel Workers, Machinists Nonpartisan Political League, International Ladies Garment Workers Campaign Committee, Railway Labor's Political League, Trainmen's Political Education League and Amalgamated Clothing Workers Political Fund.

All these organizations are again active this year, but not nearly as active as they were two years ago. The money they spent — ranging from $9,700 from the Trainmen for 75 candidates to $245,000 from UAW for 150 and $694,000 from COPE for 300 — was collected in a presidential election year when there was more interest.

ALSO, there was more loose money then because of greater prosperity. This year organized labor's political leaders say they won't have nearly that much to spend.

Committee for Constitutional Government, one of the pressure groups now trying to raise $90,000 to whoop up the anti-Reuther campaign, claims that labor organizations have spent 100 million dollars for political activity. But it doesn't specify over how long a period.

Union political leaders say in rebuttal that they wish they had such money, but it doesn't exist. They point out further that the $1,620,000 which Republicans accuse them of collecting in 1956 from over 16 million union labor members is only a little more than the $1,500,000 which 12 prominent Republican families and a few Texas oil tycoons gave the GOP that same year.

Total political expenditures in 1956 have been estimated by congressional committees at over 200 million dollars. Labor political funds were less than 1 per cent of that, and may be less this year.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—Apart from the time just before World War II when a fellow put a piece of glass set in rubber on my face and dropped me off the end of a surfboard into 70 feet of water in California, I have never been a skin-diver.

There are several friends who put lead belts on themselves and strap cylinders of air onto their backs and do everything but go under the North Pole the way the Nautilus did, but my own idea of a good way to skin-dive without much cost or peril is to stand in a good, hot shower.

THE TROUBLE with decisions of this kind is that there is always a millionaire with a lot of idle time on his hands and this kind of man can get you into a lot of trouble. Like Joe Millard, a man with more money than conviction. Joe called up the other sunny, but slightly frosty morning and said: "You ever been skin-diving?"

"Sure," I said. "Long before it was popular. We pioneers did it with only face-masks and our own air in our own lungs. Sure."

"Well," he said, "maybe you'd come over this morning and help me. I had a little argument with Alice last night, over just nothing at all, and the upshot was that she threw her wedding ring in the pond. I got some skin-diving equipment here and I thought it would be fun if you joined me in looking for it."

"THAT POND isn't eight feet deep in the deepest place," I said, "and you can wade most of it. Buy her another wedding ring and avoid a fall cold."

"It isn't that easy," he said. "This was my mother's wedding ring. Alice has a sentimental attachment to it and . . ."

"She shows it," I said, "throwing it the pond, and all."

"Oh, come on over. We'll have scrambled eggs and link sausage after, with just a trace of cognac in black coffee to put hinges on things."

SO I WENT over to Joe's place, a little vest-pocket estate of some 47 acres in an area where builders think they are wasting things if they don't put eight houses on one acre, and we got into some cold, slippery rubber suits with talcum power on our bodies to help in getting them on.

Then we clamped snafflebits in our mouths like horses, adjusted valves and put on flippers and you'd have thought we were seeking the 387-foot record in the Mediterranean. We looked foolish, two grown men in all that gear walking into a pond a giraffe could wade through.

"YOU TAKE this half and I'll take the far half," said Joe. "The bottom is white sand, because I had it dumped in there. He's an underwater light to help you see things. The ring ought to flash if the light rays hit it."

So we walked in, bit down on our breathers, started letting air in through hoses and in no time we were flat on our stomachs in four feet of water, feeling around for a ring. Joe found it, after about 15 minutes, in seven feet of water. He grabbed it up out of the sand and we got back out of there and his butler served a piping hot breakfast of scrambled eggs and thick-cut bacon.

"DIDN'T HAVE any sausage, it turned out," said Joe. "But here's the cognac."

"I'd as soon put 7-up in a Bloody Mary," I said. "I don't need cognac. I need my head examined. Of all the fool safaris I've ever heard of . . ."

"There is no romance in your aging soul," said Joe. "This will kill Alice. The fact that we risked our lives to get that ring back."

"Risked our lives? I've been in greater danger brushing my teeth."

ALICE CAME downstairs just then and looked at us, sitting there in bathing trunks while we steam-shoveled into the eggs and bacon.

"What was all that snuffling and snorting I heard outside?" she said coldly. "I thought my addled little friend here I am married to had installed a set of water buffalo. His new hobby."

Joe pulled the ring out of a coin pocket in his trunks and said: "Darling, we risked our lives for this, because I want you to be happy."

She took the ring and burst into hysterical laughter.

"This?" she cried. "This is the brass one I use for all our quarrels. You think I'd throw your dear, dead mother's ring into a filthy pond? You are a beast!"

Well, now I've been skin-diving twice in my life.

Sauer Kraut And Bubbles

WASHINGTON — The way for an amateur chef to impress the neighbors is boil up a kettle of sauerkraut.

He dumps this on a big platter, quickly arranges the sausages around the edges, pokes a bottle of champagne down in the middle of the kraut, and at the table pulls the cork. Nature does the rest.

The heat sends a geyser of wine bubbling up and over the sauerkraut, which is served immediately to the dazzled guests, who then heap upon the cook their heartfelt compliments.

THIS recipe comes from James Beard, the celebrated trencherman, cooking teacher, author and momentarily wine salesman extraordinary for the French Government. When he cooks for his friends, they always get sauerkraut and champagne.

As a representative of the French Government, telling Americans how to drink wine, Beard had to register with the Justice Department as a foreign agent. While here he joined with the French Ambassador for a champagne tasting, to which have been invited local leaders of society, Federal bigwigs, and those on expense accounts.

If it weren't for the last named, said Beard, the champagne business in America would be in a sorry state. The government taxes the bubbly stuff at a horrid rate and then certain restaurant owners, particularly in New York, tack on profits of up to 600 percent, not only on the wine, but also on the tax.

THE BEST French champagne costs about $5 a bottle wholesale, but many a night club charges $25 and $30 for it, Beard said. He's working now on getting the managements to cut the profits; next January he intends to belabor Congress about the champagne tax. Meantime, he is grateful for the patronage of the expense accounters, who don't much care what their beverages cost.

I COULDN'T make the wine tasting, but I did have breakfast with Beard at the Mayflower Hotel, and this was an experience. We walked down the long corridor and past a sign which said: "Meeting of Peanut Butter Manufacturers Association."

The 250-pound Beard averted his eyes and strode into the main dining room, where the waiter immediately poured coffee. Beard said he didn't drink coffee for breakfast. "Some juice, perhaps?" suggested the waiter.

Beard said juice was exactly what he wanted; grape juice. He ordered French champagne.

I'LL SAY this for the waiter. He didn't even blink. The wine arrived shortly and was opened with a bang loud enough to startle all the breakfasters in the dining room. The sight of us ruined the ham and eggs for some of them.

This did not bother Beard, who had it with his bubbly creamed finnan haddie. He ordered a second bottle and checked to see whether the hotel was charging the right price. It came to $24 for two jugs and this, said Beard, represented a reasonable markup. He signed the check and we can only trust that he, too, is on an expense account.

HE WENT into some detail about the fruitiness of the wine. He said he did wish more Americans could enjoy it. The trouble is they don't know much about wine. Neither do the clerks in the liquor stores.

So part of his duties as a French agent is to organize a series of seminars for liquor store clerks, so they can give the customers some inside of what's inside the bottle. Samples would be better.

But, as Beard said, this is against the law and if somebody's to tell somebody else how a wine tastes, he should know something about it, himself. Sounds to me like the Beard college for liquor store employees should be a gay place, particularly around examination time.

Hal Boyle

Reporter's Notebook

By SAUL PETT
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK — I have taken up bowling.

I do not particularly like bowling, but my boss does. So I have taken up bowling.

Bowling is the latest example—and perhaps the worst example—of that creeping paralysis of American independence known as togetherness.

In bowling, the disease is carried to the ultimate. Friends bowl together. Enemies bowl together. Management and labor bowl together.

Remember when we were a nation of individualists? When a man took up a sport to get away from it all and to refuel his soul in the glories of nature? When he went off, like a man, to sit on the bank of a stream, to fish, to dream, to find himself, to find a perspective about the people he was escaping—his wife, his kids, his boss.

NOW WE ALL bowl together. And this is called healthful exercise, exhilarating and relaxing. We bowl in a sweaty smoke-filled room, where there is no natural light, no natural air, and you have a grand view of a wall. Relaxing? It has all the serenity of a shooting gallery. It brings out the worst in people.

The women wear toreador pants. This tends to narrow them on the top and widen them in the middle, with a Freudian subconscious wish to look like bowling pins.

The men wear slacks and a frown. I almost never saw a bowler who wasn't frowning. They take the game that seriously.

The good ones—even after a strike—come back to the bench frowning to let the rest of the team know they are continually aware of their responsibility to be good.

The bad bowlers frown under the weight of their enormous guilt complex; they are letting their team down, which in some cases can mean their department or the whole company they're working for.

And thus vice president and secretary, man and wife, boss and slave find yet another bond in togetherness—ulcers.

YOU SEE THE worst physical tortures in bowling alleys, especially as the bowler tries to keep from tottering over the foul line. He ties himself up in the air like Nijinsky in a ballet of demented anchovies. And then the poor fool falls over the foul line, and bells ring, and red lights flash, and you'd think the FBI had just nabbed Khrushchev slipping banana peels on the launching pad at Cape Canaveral.

You see the worst mental tortures in bowling alleys. An 180-bowler bowls 98, and he blames it on the fact that a woman three alleys away was whispering. He heard her in all that noise. Or he blames it on tight shoes, dust on the ball, or a speck of towel lint on the floor.

Another man throws his ball immediately into the gutter—a wooden ditch from which there is no return. His ball starts there, and it ends there in the gutter and he has no one to blame but himself. But he comes back to the bench convinced he was robbed.

All of us bowlers are completely miserable. But we do have our togetherness.

NEW YORK—I love women's magazines. They are so full of helpful suggestions on how I can be a "new me."

They take it for granted that I am disillusioned with myself, and that goes for my house too.

They're always urging me to dress up my shabby old furniture and clean out my musty closets and cover my old beat-up bureau with wall paper to match the curtains.

They presume that I have an old crockery water pitcher which I haven't made into a planter and shame on me.

They also assume that I have dry, withering skin and a faded summer tan which it is not quite too late to care for.

THEY KNOW THAT I am a mite overweight in spots, and they tell me what I can do with it.

And they invariably imply that my marriage is not quite what I thought it would be, and it's my own fault.

If I could just learn to laugh at ashes on the floor, if I could make a decent cheese souffle once in a while without leaving my guests alone over their martinis, everything would be peachy.

Well, I have gone along with all this for years, on the theory that perhaps it is constructive criticism and maybe my hair would look a little better with egg in it.

But today a magazine note to editors—McCall's has come out with 84 suggestions for making my marriage more exciting—and here I am drawing the line.

It seems, according to the list, that in order to jazz up a dulling domestic situation a husband and wife must use all their wiles and all their imaginations. It also will help if they use most of their savings.

RULE NUMBER one for husbands is: "Kiss the back of your wife's neck once a day." This is a ticklish situation at best.

Premier regulation for ladies:

"Tell the neighbors you're happily married — it will get back to your husband." Show me the neighbor who won't think you protest too much and spread the word accordingly.

A husband is also encouraged to grow a beard; kiss his wife in public; bring flowers, and cry occasionally so she can mother him.

Wives are urged to watch him shave, as Queen Victoria did Prince Albert; wear a new negligee; remember the things she said and did to land him and try them again; write him a love note occasionally and be amorously aggressive once in a while.

Which may lead him to feel, respectively: itchy, embarrassed, suspicious and appalled.

NOVEL PROPOSAL—Rep. Ramsey (D-W.Va.) proposes that the government pay off every depositor in every closed bank in the nation, stating that such an undertaking will obviate the necessity of putting into effect "the more radical inflation measures which will be demanded at the next Congress."

ASK PEGGED PRICES—The National Farmers Union requests President Roosevelt for a moratorium on farm mortgage foreclosures and that farm prices be pegged at a cost of production level.

BONDS FOR TAXES—Oliver H. Bruce Jr., manager of the Home Owners Loan Corporation for Allegany, Frederick, Garrett and Washington counties, asks the county commissioners and officials of all incorporated towns to accept the corporation's bonds in lieu of taxes.

HEAVY REGISTRATION — Charles E. Hambright, secretary to the Board of Election Supervisors, claims the registration of new voters just completed will be the heaviest in the history of the county. He bases his prediction on the 255 new registrants in South Cumberland's District 4, 150 new ones in District 8, Westernport, and 35 in Oldtown District.

HEALTH LAW FINE—The first violator of the city's health laws is given a $10 fine in Police Court for allowing garbage and rubbish to collect in the rear of his restaurant. A dozen more firms have been warned to clean up their premises.

MAYOR DRAWS LINE—The mayor of Westernport visits a carnival sponsored by the fire company and orders the 'hootchy-kootchy' and gambling devices stopped. It is the general opinion that the firemen would have done better by featuring area talent as entertainment.

So They Say

Any lawyer knows that you cannot hold a referendum on somebody's constitutional rights. It would be like asking the people to vote on whether or not you can commit murder.
—Wiley Branton, NAACP chief attorney for Arkansas.

A hula hooper exposes himself to contractions of the lumbar spine, or . . . a misalignment of one of the lumbar vertebrae.
—Chicago chiropractor Dr. William O. Womer, warning against a new malady he calls "Waikiki Warp."

If this principle had been known in the 19th century, men like Victor Hugo and Pasteur could still be having children.
—French biologist Jean Rostand, revealing new method to preserve human reproductive cells.

Maryland Civil Rights Commission Named

WASHINGTON (AP) — A six-member Maryland State Advisory Committee was announced today by the Federal Commission on Civil Rights.

The Maryland group will elect its own chairman at an organization meeting still to be set.

Gordon Tiffany, staff director for the commission, said 20 state advisory committees now have been named. It is planned to have one functioning in each state before the end of the year.

The Maryland committee: Harry A. Cole and Dr. John H. Fischer of Baltimore; Maxwell Greenwald of Hagerstown; Mrs. Robert W. King of Bethesda; F. Desales Mudd of La Plata; and Dr. John T. Williams of Princess Anne.

State Welfare Unit May Buy Navy Building

BALTIMORE (AP)—State welfare officials are eyeing the possibility of taking over an abandoned Navy installation in Southern Maryland to house juvenile lawbreakers.

The State has been planning to spend two million dollars for a new senior vocational school for delinquents.

But it could save most of that by purchasing the Piney Point naval installation at a token price, according to Dr. Alvin Thalheimer, chairman of the Board of Public Welfare.

Dr. Thalheimer appeared last night at a meeting of the Legislative Council's Budget and Finance Committee.

He said the Navy had not declared the station surplus property yet. But he added that if the State can acquire it, "it would solve all our problems of overcrowding, save us four years in time and save a lot of money."

One drawback, however, is the hugeness of the Navy installation for such a purpose as an institution for delinquents. It formerly housed hundreds of military personnel and civilian workers. Remoteness of the 37-acre site on the Potomac River also would be a handicap to attracting staff personnel.

In other business before the committee, Dr. Thalheimer said Welfare officials will ask the next Legislature to allow boards which now administer training schooling have only an advisory role in the future.

Another proposed bill would permit young offenders to be transferred back and forth between training schools, and the proposed penal institution for youths under the Department of Correction.

Five New SeaMasters Taken On Test Flights

BALTIMORE (AP)—Five SeaMasters, the supersonic jet seaplane built by Martin Co., took to the air yesterday in a test flight for the Navy.

It was the first time they went through their paces in such numbers.

The big flying boats are slated to play a leading role in the Navy's striking force. The 600 m.p.h.-plus aircraft is designed for both long-range and low-level bombing missions as well as mine-laying work.

Truck Kills Pedestrian

BALTIMORE (AP) — A California man died yesterday after he was hit by a station wagon that collided with a tractor trailer on U. S. 1 at Elkridge.

Henry M. Hurdle, 55, of Van Nuys, Calif., was dead on arrival at a hospital here. A fellow pedestrian, Howard Hill Jr., 22, of Clarksville, Md., also was struck by the station wagon and suffered bruises and lacerations.

Hurdle was visiting relatives in Elkridge, five miles southwest of here.

Killed In Wreck

MIDDLETOWN, Md. (AP) — A 27-year-old father of four children died at a Frederick hospital yesterday after his car swerved off Broad Run Road near here and hit a tree.

$10,000 Awarded Couple For Injuries In Crash

SALISBURY (AP) — A Circuit Court jury awarded a New Jersey couple $10,000 for injuries resulting from a traffic accident.

The decision handed down yesterday gave $8,000 to Mrs. Irene D. Sarisky, 42, of Perth Amboy, for injuries that hospitalized her one week. Her husband was granted $2,000 for loss of her companion ship.

The defendant was Carolina Coach Co. of Raleigh, N. C.

Bloodmobile Misses Quota In Frostburg

Red Cross Unit Gets 106 Pints During Appeal

A total of 106 pints of blood was collected yesterday when the Johnstown Bloodmobile Unit visited Frostburg.

A quota of 120 pints had been assigned as the area's share of the October quota of 255 pints. In Cumberland Monday, 142 pints were collected to exceed the local quota of 135.

Frostburg experienced a higher percentage of rejections than did Cumberland, and also had fewer volunteer walkins, thus accounting for the shrinkage.

In Frostburg, 150 had been scheduled. Of this number 112 kept their appointments. There were 11 rejections and five volunteer walkins. Five were listed as first-time donors.

The physicians on duty yesterday included Dr. Martin M. Rothstein, Dr. H. C. Diehl, Dr. W. O. McLane, Dr. John C. Dovers, and Dr. Hilda Jane Walters.

Frostburg listed a number of club members including:

Gallon Club — Mrs. Wanona Ways, 46 Ormond Street; Mrs. Mary Weibrecht, 283 East Main Street; Anthony Arnone, 134 Wood Street, and Mrs. Ida Corrigan, 40 Mill Street.

Two Gallon Club — Kenneth Babcock, 144 Bowery Street; George Pryor, RD 3; Rev. William J. Yingling, 36 West Main Street; John H. Miller, Mt. Savage; Harry K. Elliott, 195 West Main Street; Oscar C. Chaney, 151 West Main Street; John F. Fatkin, RD 1, Frostburg; Miss Jackie Johnston, 266 Mechanic Street; Mrs. Helen Harvey, RD 1, and Paul Price, 65 Washington Street.

Three Gallon Club — Aaron W. Bean, RD 1, and Donald E. Lloyd, 89 Hill Street.

The next visit of the bloodmobile unit to Frostburg will be on January 6.

Dinner, Speaker, Feature Y Auxiliary Program

A dinner preceded the meeting of Central Y.M.C.A., with Mrs. E. F. Phillips presiding and welcoming the speaker for the evening, Mrs. John J. Hafer, and members and guests. B. U. Smith, general secretary of the Y, gave the invocation.

Mrs. Hafer, introduced by Mrs. Pearl Metz, gave interesting sketches of her trip to Leningrad and Moscow, Russia, last summer with her family. She described the "everyday life of the people, the crowded living conditions, and the way the women do most of the work on the streets and public places." Mrs. Hafer also gave a vivid description of the very old but luxuriously furnished suite of rooms they occupied at the hotel. She also spoke of the food, stating that "bread is served with every meal in five or six different ways, that water is unsafe to drink and that a very common quality of wine and coffee are served as substitutes."

The Hafers attended a Baptist church service on Sunday and were impressed by the singing and the crowd attending, there being about 600 people present. The tourists were seated in the balcony.

The program closed with the recital of the Lord's Prayer. Guests were Mrs. Karl Farmer, Hollywood, Calif., and Mrs. Harold R. McClay, city. Two new members were enrolled. They are Mrs. Bert Brown and Mrs. B. U. Smith. Ninety-two attended.

Mrs. William Van Newkirk will be guest reviewer at the luncheon meeting of the Literature Group of the Woman's Civic Club at 12:30 tomorrow in the club house.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wigfield, 1266 Vocke Road, and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Wigfield, Oldtown Road, are touring California, Mexico and Florida.

Court Rules Will Invalid

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Supreme Court Tuesday ruled invalid a will of Mrs. Venie Henry of Weston and ordered the Lewis County Circuit Court to approve sale of property bequeathed to three beneficiaries named by Mrs. Henry's husband.

Mrs. Henry, who died in 1953, willed all her property to her husband, David Henry, with the condition that all property remaining upon his death would revert to a nephew.

The high court held that Mrs. Henry's will was written prior to a 1931 law which recognized limitations such as set out in her will.

Little Opposition To Constitutional Amendments

Editor's note: Following is the last of three dispatches on four proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on in West Virginia next month—what they would accomplish, arguments for and against, and how the results would differ from present provisions.

By J. RICHARD TOREN
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—While some controversy surrounds two of the proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on Nov. 4, there has been little or no public opposition to the remaining two which would:

1. Exempt money and bank deposits from property taxes.

2. Allow West Virginia corporations to issue non-voting stock.

Only three dissenting votes were cast against No. 1 when it was approved by the 132-member Legislature, and none against No. 2.

According to their sponsors, the money and bank deposit exemption would merely put the law in line with almost universal practice, while the voting stock change would remove an impediment that could keep new business out of West Virginia.

Even if they were collected—and in fact they seldom are—taxes on cash and bank deposits would be only a minor source of tax revenue. Under the 1932 Tax Limitation Amendment, they may be taxed at no more than 50 cents per $100 annually along with other Class I property.

But here's the story given by backers of the amendment, who include the Citizens Committee for Tax Reform, of Charleston:

The great majority of people never bother to list cash on hand on their property tax returns, or to list their bank balance as of the Jan. 1 assessment date. And many individuals and corporations with large bank balances simply withdraw them just before Jan. 1 to escape the tax and redeposit them later.

However, the law provides that after a person dies, the state tax commissioner may examine his bank balance as of Jan. 1 for each of the five preceding years and collect unpaid taxes along with a 2 per cent a year penalty.

This strikes most heavily at widows and children of modest means, since individuals and businesses with plenty of money know how to protect it from property taxes—including pre-Jan. 1 withdrawals—and usually do so.

The sponsors also say that some of the money taken out of the state before Jan. 1 each year never returns, and that the present provision make law violators and tax evaders out of practically all West Virginians.

Opponents of the amendment feel it is unwise to single out any class of property for exemption from taxes. They also believe it discriminates between the person who puts his money to use, say in a business venture where it is subject to taxation, and one who allows his to remain in the bank.

As for the penalty provisions burdening widows and children, the opponents point out that these could be changed by the Legislature without a constitutional amendment.

Not a breath of controversy has touched the other amendment—to

Boy's First Haircut Important Event

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—It's time for that first haircut when people look at your boy baby and say:

"Isn't she sweet."

Unless you act at once, the child's image of himself may be turned into an image of a "herself" and this would inflict untold damage on the little one's psyche.

You haul out the baby books. But there's precious little about the planning and execution of the first shearing. Your neighbor, who's been through this three times, says there's only one way: you sit in the barber chair and hold the child on your lap.

You remember that once on television a baby expert said to let the child take along a happiness and security object.

Neither of these practical suggestions strikes you as applicable, so you wash your hands of the whole operation.

You wait until Saturday and let pop have the honors.

You have no more nails to bite when, 30 minutes later on that fateful day, pop shoves your shorn darling in the door. His G.I. haircut brings tears to your eyes. Your baby is growing up.

You don't want the child to have a mother complex, so you brush the tears aside and ask pop—how did it go?

The child wasn't upset, but pop was—plenty—about the barber. He said:

"You'd think he was shearing a time bomb. Five minutes it took him!"

You look again and realize the barber did a good job. That's the trouble really.

Girl Stricken

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Cabell County has its eighth polio case of the year-all since Sept. 17. The latest victim is 17-year-old Kathy Brackman, Huntington. The girl had received two shots of Salk vaccine, authorities said.

Court Asked To Transfer Negro Pupil

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Negro scientist asked the U. S. District Court today to admit his 13-year-old son to an already integrated school at Aberdeen, Md.

The boy, Alvin D. Pettit, is the son of George David Pettit, an electronics scientist at the Army's Aberdeen Proving Ground for 4½ years. The family recently moved to Aberdeen from Baltimore County.

James B. McCloskey, counsel for Pettit, said the boy was refused admission to the school on the basis of a federal ruling involving school transfers in Harford County. He said several U. S. Supreme Court decisions have upset the legality of this ruling.

McCloskey said that after he was turned away from the junior high school, he was entered in an all-Negro school at Havre de Grace which is several miles from his home.

The attorney said the integrated Aberdeen school is less than a mile from the boy's home.

Warm Weather Seen

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Weather observers predicted Tuesday that it would be warmer the rest of this week in West Virginia after two nippy nights. The temperature dipped to 30 degrees—two points below freezing — at Martinsburg and Elkins early Tuesday. Some fairly heavy frost was reported in a few areas.

ASKS NO FAVORS AT 70—Edith Mary Walker, 70, a World War I nurse, talks with Policeman Anthony L. Frisco as she sits outside her Greenwich Village apartment among her worldly goods. She spent the night in the cold after her eviction Monday from the $32-a-month apartment because the building is to be razed. She gets $78.50 from the Veterans Administration. McKeldin Asks For Calmness In Police Probe

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. McKeldin has called for calmness in dealing with a report on alleged improprieties in the State Police department. He said flatly he will not call the General Assembly into special session to study the report.

McKeldin said the report made public Monday night by the Criminal Justice Commission "can serve a useful purpose over a period of time if handled and considered with calmness and purpose. It can only be destructive if it is to be treated by the Criminal Justice Commission, the press, radio and television as a vehicle for sensationalism."

He added, in a statement yesterday, that he will "not become a part of any panicky movement which tends to discredit the whole body of excellent, conscientious and courageous men who make up the State Police department."

The governor's statement means the suggested investigation of the commission's charges by the House of Delegates can be conducted no sooner than the next regular session beginning in January.

In its report, the Criminal Justice Commission called on the House to study State Police handling of three warrants which were held up for more than a year.

The commission is an independent Red Feather agency, supported by private funds. Its report followed a special investigation of the warrants case.

A State Police board of inquiry composed of three captains investigated the case this summer and cleared the department of any wrongdoing.

The warrants were obtained in May 1957 and charged Baltimore contractor Sidney Sappington with reckless driving, drunken driving and disorderly conduct. Only the reckless driving warrant was served—and only after the first probe had begun this summer.

Gov. McKeldin said he could not "readily accept the opinion of the commission's committee that the State Board of Policy Inquiry was not fair and impartial." He was referring to the State Police board of inquiry.

In rejecting the idea of a special session, the governor described the proposed House of Delegates study as "most cumbersome and ineffective."

"It lends itself to little more than opportunities of ambitious House members to engage in oratory for publicity and political purposes—all of which produces confusion and practically nothing else," he said.

He pointed out that only he can call the General Assembly into special session.

The Criminal Justice Commission report criticized Major William H. Weber, State Police executive officer, who had ordered service on the three warrants halted. McKeldin said that "if the Criminal Justice Commission has specific charges of law violations against certain members of the Police had usurped a judicial function in withholding two of the warrants. The report also held that the State

Fire Destroys TwoBuildings

A large shed and a small frame dwelling were destroyed by fire last night in South End.

The one-story house, which was unoccupied, has about four rooms and is located off Roberts Street near the old C&O Canal.

South End firemen received a call about 7:40 p. m. and contacted Central by radio for assistance.

Water was used from the two pumpers to quench the flames. Cause of the blaze is unknown, firemen said. The dwelling is owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Crawford of 21 Brookfield Avenue and is located in an isolated section.

Morgantown Man Heads Area Kiwanis Clubs

The convention delegates also selected Clarksburg as next year's convention site and received a bid from Beckley for the 1960 meeting.

Delegates selected the following governors for the nine state divisions:

John B. Queen, Wellsburg; Philippe L. Charles, Parkersburg; Bill Flynn, Clarksburg; J. Kenton Lambert, Parsons; Verl W. Snyder, Berkeley Springs; Don Quesenberry, West Huntington; Ernest McGraw, Meadow Bridge; Eddie Richardson, Welch, and Orley Bennett, Chapmanville.

Dr. E. B. McCue of West Virginia University, chairman of the district's committee on student loans, reported that some $8,000 has been loaned to West Virginia college students to aid in financing their studies since such a program was started in 1950. Most of the money has been repaid, he said.

Resolutions adopted by the convention included plans for a project display at the next Kiwanis international convention depicting the beauties of West Virginia; support for the get-out-and-vote campaign; approval of a reapproval of a reappraisal of state property to equalize assessments, and improving schools and teacher salaries.

Past district governor James M. Mohler, Charles Town, was unanimously supported for international trustee.

Three former U.S. presidents were over 82 when they died: John Adams, 90; Thomas Jefferson, 83; and James Madison, 85.

The Paris Metro, or subway, also has connecting bus tours for tourists.

Justice Department Seen Awaiting For Much Better Case

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The word is the Justice Department awaits a good case before proceeding again under the Corrupt Practices Act against the use of labor money in political campaigns.

The department lost such a case growing out of labor's part in the 1954 election of Sen. Patrick V. McNamara (D-Mich.). It has waited now for a better case much too long so far as this year's election is concerned.

Democratic enchantment and Republican disenchantment with Big Labor in American politics is for cause, including the computation that in the 1956 political campaign all but about $4,000 of slightly more than $1,000,000 contributed by labor was given to Democratic candidates and their campaign committee.

This distribution of campaign gifts was cited last summer by the staff of the Republican Senate Policy Committee in a detailed report titled: "The Labor Bosses—America's Third Party."

On Explosive Ground

The policy committee staff evidently was attempting to get Republican candidates this year and Republican leaders, in general, on what staff members regard as the beam with respect to Big Labor in American politics. Staff members realized they were treading explosive ground so they opened their report with this statement:

"Neither the members of the Republican Policy Committee nor other Republican senators are responsible for the statements herein contained, except such as they are willing to endorse and make their own."

Republican money, of course, paid for the report and pays the staff members' salaries. The end product, however, was an orphan at birth so far as most top party leaders were concerned, a foundling statement of fact, belief, accusation and policy awaiting adoption.

Well Documented

The report was quite well documented, being based on testimony before the McClellan Senate subcommittee, on reports by labor to the clerk of the House concerning political expenditures and on some legal proceedings in the federal courts including the Supreme Court.

The report quotes from Sec. 610 of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act that: " 'It is unlawful for any national bank x x x or for any corporation whatever to make a contribution or expenditure in connection with any election to any political office x x x x or any labor organization to make a contribution or expenditure in connection with any election (for federal office).' "

"The labor bosses claim, however," the report adds, "that these political auxiliaries (which make the contributions) do not fall within the Corrupt Practices Act definition of a 'labor organization.' And, furthermore, that their activities are financed by 'voluntary contributions.' "

Court Cases Cited

The policy committee staff, doubtless somewhat prejudiced, regards this claim as nonsense. The staff report cites various legal proceedings including the 1956 Hanson case 351 U.S. 225 in which the Supreme Court indicated, at least, some justices felt the use of union dues money for political purposes would render the union shop contract unconstitutional.

A decision on that issue might solve a lot of Republican problems, either by reducing the flow of labor funds into politics or by settling the right-to-work issue in the courts instead of in ballots. The Justice Department seems disinclined to grasp the thistle firmly.

DEATH CHEATED—Twenty-one persons were injured yesterday when a Greyhound bus and a 12-ton roller collided on the state thruway near Syracuse, N. Y. State Police said the bus struck the rear of the roller while attempting to pass in the westbound lane. The bus careened across the center mall and over the eastbound lane, narrowly missing oncoming autos. Forty-two people were aboard the bus. (AP Photofax)

Balanced Federal Budget Could Halt Inflation

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (UPI)—Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), a native of this Eastern Panhandle city, suggested Tuesday that inflation could be halted by balancing the federal budget.

In calling for a movement to put the government in balance and reduce taxes, Byrd observed that the "greatest single factor in cheapening the American money is deficit spending."

He said to balance the federal budget and assure the people it will stay balanced except in extreme emergency "we must halt inflation." The remarks were made at a concluding meeting of the West Virginia Kiwanis District convention here.

Three lines of specific economy suggested by Byrd were:

1—Eliminate pump priming public work "which should never have been started in the first place."

2—Stop launching new spending programs including such projects as federal aid to school building and recent crash "highway building appropriations."

3—Halt constant expannion of established spending program such as road building and housing farm subsidies and veterans aid, and halt expanding foreign aid, not cutting it entirely but eliminate so-called "economic aid."

Reserve Unit Prepares For Army Exams

Officers and men of the 353d Ordnance Company, U.S. Army Reserve, have spent the past week end undergoing training for the Army Training Tests which will be given to the local unit during its annual training next year.

Captain Stanley Sliviak, company commander, said the training is given to prepare the men for the various phases of training which will be given next year.

Under the direction of Lt. Leo C. Brannon, training officer for the unit, the men received training and practice in handling hand and rifle grenades, testing of gas mask equipment in tear gas, and refresher courses in disassembly and assembly of the carbine and the M-1 rifle.

The company will conclude its training in this phase October 26 when the entire company, complete with field kitchens, move to the field. Here the unit will hold classes in combat formations, first aid, arming and disarming of mines, mine probing and infantry field assault.

The purpose of the tests is to evaluate the individual proficiency of each soldier in the Army and thus gain data on the readiness of the Army as a whole.

Capt. Sliviak added that while the local unit gained a number of new men since its return from summer training, there are a few vacancies available to interested youths. Further information may be available by contacting the office of the unit advisor, 19 Walnut Place.

First Polio Case Listed For County

Two-Year-Old Boy Has Paralytic Type, Physician Reports

The first polio case in Allegany County was reported this morning to the Allegany County Health Department.

Authorities at the Health Department identified the victim as Russell E. Haines Jr., two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Haines, of Potomac Park.

The infant was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday.

Officials said the attending physician has reported the case as paralytic polio. As far as could be learned the child had not taken his immunization shots.

Last Case In 1957

The last reported case of polio in Allegany County was last year when Donald Frye, 22, this city, died in Memorial Hospital several days after being admitted.

Health Department officials said this morning that the Haines case runs a "little late" as far as previous cases in the county go. It was noted that in the past most polio cases were reported during late August and the month of September.

However, it was pointed out that there is no definite time for polio to strike.

Only Two Reported

The Health Department started its mass immunization program back in the Spring of 1956 and since that time only the Frye and Haines cases have been reported.

Prior to 1956 Allegany County had a number of polio cases each year. In 1953 and 1954 there were three cases reported in the county each year, while in 1955 a total of six cases occurred, two in the county and four within the city limits of Cumberland.

Last year the Health Department completed its third shots in the series offered students of Allegany County's schools.

Still Offers Shots

When the immunization program was started the three shots were offered only to First and Second Grade pupils. However, last year the shots were offered to all school children.

A spokesman for the department also noted this morning that the Health Department is still offering its immunization program to pre-school children.

Area physicians are also cooperating with the Health Department by handling the shots for a large number of their patients.

Flying Object ReportBacked Up By GI's

The report by a Martin's Mountain man that he had sighted a 'UFO' (unknown flying object) on the morning of September 29 has been further verified by two Nike missilemen at Derwood, Md.

Earl Stonestreet, who lives on Breakneck Road, reported he saw the object flying a course southeast to northwest about 5:30 a. m. on September 29. He described the device as flying low and emiting a blue-white flame from the rear portion of the main body of the 'machine'.

Since then two missilemen, Pvt. Jerome A. Scanlon and Sgt. Riney Farriss claimed they saw a wingless, tear-drop shaped object land and take off near their battery early September 29. Other reports of the strange object came from the Eastern Shore as well as by Stonestreet.

Air Force officials at Bolling Field in Washington today advanced what they hazard as an explanation for the sighting in the skies.

Repair trucks were doing some welding jobs on lofty high-tension wires near Darwood and flashes caused by the work may have been the basis for the reports for flaming objects, they said. However, this explanation would hardly fit Stonestreet's report.

GETS JOB IN HAWAII—Miss Carol Meister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Meister, Bedford Road, will leave next Wednesday for Hawaii where she has accepted a position to work for the U. She has worked for the Department of Defense for three years.

State Parks Conference Held At Davis

Solon States Zoning Rules Insure Proper Use Of Resources

DAVIS, W. Va. (UPI) — State governments "can properly effect zoning regulations" to insure the proper use and development of its natural resources, West Virginia Gov. Cecil H. Underwood said today.

"Through such an arrangement it is possible for state and private resources to be applied harmoniously for the enrichment of the areas," he said. Underwood made the remarks at the 38th annual National Conference on State Parks at nearby Blackwater Falls State Park.

Underwood also expressed high hopes for West Virginia's future tourist prospects. "One day soon we will see it a one billion dollar business, the largest segment of the economies of West Virginia," he said.

"We haven't begun to tap the wealth which is here in West Virginia...we haven't begun to compete for the tourist dollar."

Underwood said state parks everywhere "should be preserved as closely intact as they were when man first arrived. We owe it to history to preserve them, we owe it to our people and especially to our children."

The governor said "it seems mandatory that every effort be made to preserve our state parks for posterity," He added, "What a crime it would be if such areas passed into the hands of those who cared little more for such scenic attractions than for the resources which were available in them."

West Virginia Conservation Commission Director Warden M. Lane called Tuesday for "extreme cooperation" among state agencies dealing with all phases of natural resources.

Strike Halts Glass Plant Production

Works 7 Shutdown Done In Orderly Fashion By Employes

The new Works 7 of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company at North Branch was shut down early today by a strike.

Robert W. Hainsfurther, plant manager, said the cessation of production was done in an orderly fashion by midnight.

Staff employes were in the plant today, and there was no disorder at the picket line established by Local 180, United Glass and Ceramics Workers of America.

Hainsfurther said the strike notice was given by Local 180 last night, joining other locals representing the Creighton, Pa., and Ford City, Pa., plants which went out off their jobs earlier.

Affects 600 Workers

The strike will affect about 600 hourly-paid workers here.

The plant manager said the melting tank will be kept hot temporarily, explaining the plant could get back into production within a week if the tank is kept hot. If the molten glass were allowed to get cold, he added, the return to production would take a lot longer.

Plans for the strike were confirmed by Charles Buskirk, president of Local 180, who reported the union furnished men to secure equipment so no damage would be done to machinery in the plant.

Issues Statement

Buskirk issued a statement saying the union, after negotiations broke off September 30, left the door open for further bargaining by asking the company to reconsider its position on three sections of the contract vital to the union.

He added that "the company, in negotiations at Miami Beach, Fla., yesterday informed the union that it was not willing to move in a direction that would make it possible for us to arrive at an agreement that would be satisfactory to the union. We therefore believe it necessary to call a strike at midnight October 7."

The statement was issued after the local union met last night in the North Branch Fire Hall.

Pair of AWOL Soldiers Held As Suspects

Two AWOL soldiers are being held in Romney, W. Va., in connection with a breaking and entering and an arson charge.

Sgt. W. Frank Bowley of the West Virginia State Police returned the subjects from Uniontown, Pa., yesterday. They are James Dennison, 20, Springfield, W. Va., and Jack Warman, 20, Masontown, Pa., who are reported AWOL from Fort Knox, Ky.

Sgt. Bowley said warrants were obtained against the pair in connection with a breaking and entering at the Springfield Grade School on September 25 and also in connection with the burning of a barn on the farm of Jesse L. Shanholtz on September 27.

The pair were nabbed in Uniontown in connection with breaking and entering there and were tried yesterday. Sentences were suspended on the pair and they were turned over to West Virginia authorities.

They will be taken before Justice of the Peace A. L. Russell for a preliminary hearing.

Social Security Benefits Available Under Changes

The local office of the Social Security Administration reports that additional persons who have been brought under coverage of the program under recent changes of the law are not taking advantage of benefits.

James Gwinn, manager, said persons who can qualify include parents of deceased workers upon whom they were dependent, dependents of persons who are receiving disability payments, those persons who are totally and permanently disabled can qualify now if they have worked five out of 10 years prior to the onset of their disability, and children who are adopted and now come under the benefits of the program without the three-year waiting period formerly in effect.

Gwinn said these are unusual categories of persons who could qualify, but the number who have contacted the local office has been very small. Anyone who feels he or she can qualify under any of the above rules should contact the Social Security office by phone or mail or in person.

Persons who are over 65 years of age, and who do not know if they are covered under Social Security, should contact the office to determine exactly what their status is in relation to benefits. There are cases where a person waits for a year or so after reaching the age of 65 before seeking information on their status. In some cases it has resulted in a loss of benefits which were due.

Tawes Slams Vote Record Of Devereux

GOP Opponent Wants Anti-Discrimination Bill Support By Demos

By The Associated Press

J. Millard Tawes says James P. S. Devereux has "one of the most backward-looking voting records in history."

Tawes, the Democratic candidate for governor, accused his Republican opponent of favoring tax relief for those who need it least.

Devereux has cast his ballot against public housing, federal aid to education, conservation of natural resources, and against the legitimate rights of organized labor, Tawes declared. The congressman's votes show him to be in favor of big oil and gas interests, Tawes added.

Tawes and the other three members of the Democrats' harmony ticket led a caravan of candidates who hopped around the Washington suburbs yesterday. Today, the top candidates will take the stump in Howard County.

Eliminate Issue

Meanwhile, Republicans sought votes in Queen Anne's County and Devereux' headquarters issued a statement in which the congressman asked Tawes to join him in backing an anti-discrimination bill in Baltimore. The pending measure would require that public places be opened to all races.

Devereux suggested he and Tawes eliminate racial segregation as an issue in the campaign. He explained:

"In so doing, we can eliminate speculation about the future and the people of Maryland will be free to decide this election on the basis of the candidates and the pertinent issues more consistent with the dignity of the Free State of Maryland."

In other statements during the campaigning in Montgomery County, Tawes said he did not believe it would be necessary to look for new revenue in the next fiscal year.

Attract New Industries

Tawes, who is state comptroller, offered the opinion that attracting new industries to the state is the best solution to future revenue-raising problems.

Street, Sewer Improvement Plan Offered

Long Declares 'Time Of Decision Here And Now'; Traffic Heavy

A four-year plan for street and sewer improvement has been presented the Mayor and Council by John J. Long, commissioner of streets and public property.

Its purpose, Long said, is good business and depends on the cooperation of the Mayor and Council, and a bond issue earmarked specifically for street and sewer work.

This four-year plan is determined by priority of urgency and the per cent of money spent and work completed in the city's five districts.

"Keep in mind that for every paved mile of improved streets, the State of Maryland reimburses the city $800 per year. Also, those state of Maryland urban development funds not used are not held for the city.

Challenge Noted

"The present needs of the streets and sewers challenges this Mayor and Council. There has never been a complete city-wide capital improvement street and sewer program for Cumberland. The Thruway will be completed in a few years, and Cumberland's adjoining streets should be as modern as the Thruway. The trend of increased automobile traffic makes such a plan a necessity. Furthermore, the citizens of Cumberland, paying the highest tax rate in the state, deserve modern streets," he said in introducing the program.

To finance the program, Long urged the Mayor and Council to borrow $500,000 and earmark it for streets and sewers. This will be returned in liens, street and federal aid, and savings on oil and maintenance.

He said it will be economical and good business to get rid of the established program of oiling streets. Nothing much is gained, but it costs thousands of dollars annually. Much of it enters the sewers and presents another problem.

Property Owners To Pay

A new plan of assessing property owners for costs of newly improved streets should be explored and then placed into law by ordinance.

For example, he said, a revolving fund would be set up and it would consist of funds from payment by property owners for street improvements.

This payment by the property owner, which would be the same for all, would be a joint proposition with the city paying a set amount and the resident a set amount, Long explained.

Payments per front foot of improvement would be the same for all property owners in all districts of the city. The fairness of such a plan, he pointed out, is that all citizens of Cumberland use all city streets and in this way all citizens would contribute to the cost of new street work by way of their tax burden.

This Mayor and Council must realize the seriousness of the situation and of the necessity for a solution, or suffer the eventual consequences of indifference, the commissioner declared.

Street construction costs today are more than double what they were a decade ago. This is the result of inflationary trends.

Time of Decision Now

"Can we afford it? A better question would be—Can we afford not to have it? Cumberland apparently aims its every effort to supply its citizens with what it thinks they should have, — flood control, sewage plant, a Thruway, etc. Can such a city neglect to supply its citizens with the most primary necessity of all— the means of transportation?

"The time of decision is here and now. Already there is evident increasing strangulation of automotive transportation due to the lack of adequate streets, that if continued much further will jeopardize the very life of the city.

"All we need is leadership, full

Auto Check Law Urged By Stella Werner

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — An automobile inspection Law for Montgomery County has been proposed by county Councilwoman Stella B. Werner.

She said yesterday she has asked the county attorney to determine the legality of such a system and that if his ruling is favorable will present the idea to the county's Traffic Safety Conference Thursday.

Subsequently the county attorney's office said the county cannot do its own inspecting under present law but that the law could easily be amended to make a system possible.

The council, in its weekly meeting, postponed until next Tuesday a decision on an appointment to the Maryland National Park and Planning Commission. Filling this vacancy is a considerable task because of a vigorous tug of war being waged among the county's political and civil groups.

The council also said it would discuss with the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission a Rockville request for permission to sell water along the city's new trunk line outside the city limits.

Bingo Permit Limit Set By County Board

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — To keep bingo from busting out all over, the Anne Arundel County Commissioners have decided to limit the number of commercial licenses for the sport to seven.

At the same time they boosted license fees from $2,000 to $4,000 a year.

The board's action yesterday has the affect of freezing the present number of seven bingo halls. It acted after getting numerous complaints that commercial bingo was hurting similar enterprises set up by volunteer fire companies, civic organizations and church groups.

John H. Hevener, head of the office of protective inspection, told the board that four large bingo arenas seating 1,000 persons now operate in the northern section of the county.

"There is no need for any more commercial bingo halls in Anne Arundel County," he said. "If we continue to leave the door open, we will have one on every corner."

In other business, the commissioners suggested that the State Legislature should "straighten out" the controversial Sunday bluw laws. Anne Arundel police have made several arrests the past two Sundays, charging merchants and salespeople with illegal sales.

His maternal grandfather was the late James A. Nee, of this city, who worked for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company for over 40 years, and who served for many years as general chairman of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Mr. Walsh is married to the former Louise Gable McMullen, and they and their two-year-old son, William Walsh, Jr., reside at 529 Cumberland Street, Cumberland.

esandro, seeking to displace Republican Sen. J. Glenn Beall, told the audiences that "anyone who votes for Sen. Beall votes to approve the Republican policies that have brought us the highest cost of living in the country's history."

The Democratic candidate also emphasized his support of federal aid to education. He asked the voters to consider his school building program in Baltimore.

Devereux suggested the air ought to be cleared on the racial discrimination issue "in view of frequent discrepancies between his (Tawes') declared position on several subjects and the subsequent actions of his political subordinates."

Beall criticized D'Alesandro's policies on taxing business inventories in Baltimore.

"In addition to killing Baltimore industry and thousands of industrial payrolls," Beall said, "the tax program cut off expansion of business and put up an iron gate against new development."

He said the annual average investment of new industry in Baltimore 1954-56 was $4,390,000. But after the tax increase was imposed, investment plunged to $210,000 in 1957.

Couple Die In Murder, Suicide Pact

HAMLIN, W. Va. (UPI)—Neighbors discovered the bodies of a man and a woman Tuesday night in a small rural home they occupied in the Ranger section of Lincoln County, about 25 miles southwest of here.

Authorities said it was an apparent murder-suicide. State Police Cpl. J. W. Flowers said indications were John Damron, 37, first shot and killed Mary Margaret Snodgrass, 44, then turned the shotgun on himself. It was estimated the shooting occurred sometime Wednesday morning.

Flowers said the couple apparently had been living together since 1955. Mrs. Snodgrass' husband was killed in a mine accident about five years ago. Police said they were unable to immediately determine any motive for the shooting.

Storer College Sale Planned By Trustees

HARPERS FERRY, W. Va. (AP)—The board of trustees of Storer College has named a committee to try to close a sale of the old Negro institution.

Broadway Press Agent Is N. Y. Fascination

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP)—Among the fascinations of New York the tourist never sees, ranking somewhere between secret sessions in the United Nations and floating crap games in Brooklyn, is an esoteric, hyperthyroid, hydra-headed sect of mad evangelists known as Broadway press agents.

There are many kinds of Broadway press agents—those with brilliant brains, those with creative brains, with witty brains, with fiendish brains, with no brains. But the one syndrome that unites them is a restless phobia about space.

Press agents have a horror of space being wasted, in print or on the air, on trivia like the H-bomb, of inflation of Khrushchev when, as everyone knows, the world is crying for news about a new snake charmer, play, movie, talking squirrel, hypnotist, hair-restorer, night club or the 10 best-dressed pickled herrings of the month.

Thus, from Broadway's crowded cowpath of culture and corn, the press agents arise to attack the mansions of news in many ways—through the front door, through the back door, through a window with a rusty lock, up from the basement or through a hair-line crack in the wall.

Dreaming of the front page but perfectly willing to settle for the back page, they send out carloads of releases, invent stunts, make announcements, give awards, search the stage doors, the night clubs and-or their brains for news and gags for the Broadway columnists. It is not an easy life.

For example, there is one type of press agent, usually dour-faced, who sits chained in a closet all day dreaming up gags to flow from the mouth of his client into the Broadway columns. Thus, Arthur Murray, the Mr. Chips of the dance studios, began to enjoy a reputation as a wit.

But suddenly a famine set in. For three weeks, none of the columns reported any of Murray's epigrams. Finally, he stormed into the office of his press agent, demanding:

"What happened to my sense of humor?"

There was the time bandleader Cootie Williams upbraided his press agent, Art Franklin. Williams complained he wasn't getting any publicity.

"Are you kidding?" asked Art. "Why, everybody in New York is talking about Cootie Williams!"

"Yeah, what are they saying?"

"They're saying, 'Whatever became of Cootie Williams?'"

There are big press agents and little press agents, men who work out of plush offices and moles who work out of phone booths, men whose fee runs into the thousands and men whose fee is a bartered hotel room, men who handle only the biggest names and men who handle names known only to the missing persons bureau.

There is big, bearded Jim Moran, probably the most fiendish mind in the business.

Jim is the mad man who sold a refrigerator to the Eskimos, sat on and hatched an ostrich egg (for "The Egg and I") and ran a bull into a Fifth Ave. china shop and startled Park Ave. with a strange limousine.

The steering wheel, gear shift, clutch and brakes of the car had been moved into the back seat, where hidden from view Moran did the actual driving. At a dummy steering wheel in front and apparently driving was an orangutan dressed as a chauffeur. The car was plastered with signs for the play "The Matchmaker."

Moran's big coupe this year, so far, was a "spontaneous" demonstration of anger at the play, "Look Back in Anger." Early in the third act, a woman jumped up from the audience, mounted the stage and slapped an actor playing a woman-hating character. The audience gasped, the management offered to refund their money, the show went on bravely and the stunt made all the papers the next day.

"Planning a publicity stunt," says Moran, "is like planning a bank robbery. You must figure on every condition and emergency. You must plan your front, your alibi, your getaway."

A press agent is most fascinating back to the wall, not a line in the papers in three weeks, clients screaming.

Columnist Bob Sylvester recalls the play press agent who had vainly tried everything to get a line in the papers about his show. Finally, in the last extremity, he sent out this release:

"Helen Craig, star of 'Johnny Belinda' at the Longacre, yesterday was elected a member of the Book of the Month Club. She will start receiving books almost immediately."

In the last extremity, press agents have invented people:

P. A. Holbrook, Texas oil millionaire, who is squiring—(name of client) around town; Ned Farrington, famed producer, who is considering—(name of client) for the lead in his new show; Gomez and Weinberg, sensational dance team, now booked for the—Club (name of client), Gomez and Weinberg, held over at the—Club, Gomez and Weinberg, last seen at the—Club, are feuding.

All these people were fictitious. But they all made the papers and did so well other press agents began to steal them for mentions with their clients.

There is Eddie Jaffee, Broadway character extraordinaire, now drum-beater for Sugar Ray Robinson and Joe E. Lewis, among others. Eddie's specialty used to be burlesque queens.

He billed stripper Margie Hart as the "Poor Man's Garbo." He won space for Rosita Royce, the dove dancer, when her birds collapsed with a "nervous breakdown." He got Zorita, the snake dancer, into the papers with news bulletins that she had fallen in love with her snake and was now undergoing psychoanalysis to escape from the reptile's spell.

A short, thin man with a big owl-like head who rises late and finds daylight poisonous, Eddie used to bill himself as the "World's Ugliest Press Agent." Once he sent Life magazine a batch of pictures of himself and his strippers with this note:

Life returned the pictures with this note: "Sorry, can only agree with the first half of your statement."

There is Richard Roffman, one-man factory, who grinds out hundreds of releases every week (does all the typing himself) from the crowded living room of his apartment. Roffman says he regards press agentry as a "community service," which is a fortunate attitude since some of his clients haven't paid lately. Who are some of his clients? He lists them:

"An astrologer, medium, hypnotist, creative printer, off-Broadway actress, lady composer, handtective who lectures and debunks phony mediums, art gallery, poet, a moving man by day and artist by night, the inventor of a combination cutter, scraper and carton opener, the author of 'How to Breathe Deeply and Avoid Colds,' and my father, Maurice Roffman, who is a composer."

There are also the column-item planters and column-item pluckers, the press agents who concentrate on the Broadway columnists. They write gags, philosophical gems, news items real and somewhat less than real, foreign items about returning Swedish travelers who report a war is imminent, domestic items about who was seen where, who is feuding with whom, and the salary (usually exaggerated) that your favorite comedian is drawing down in Las Vegas.

There is Abe Kahn, who pounds a typewriter all day, producing gags, epigrams, slogans, and homey homilies for clients who never said them.

Item "Singer Alfred Drake quotes Sam Goldwyn—'I won't believe color television until I see it in black and white.'"

And there is the press agent who sends out "news items" which he himself concedes is "dreaming within limits."

Item: "The management of the — Hotel in the Catskills is training ducks to retrieve golf balls from the water holes."

Frostburg Presented Maps Denoting Property Data

FROSTBURG—The Mayor and Council are recipients of a folio of maps and index from the State Tax Commission and the Allegany County Assessment Department.

The presentation was made Monday night by Thomas A. Cero, assistant state supervisor of assessment, who stated that the maps list all the property owners of the city, the size of lots and addresses. The maps, he said, will be used for the placing of water mains, fire hydrants and any notations by the city. Property owners may secure information on who owns property next to them. This is the first completed map the city has ever had.

The folio was prepared under the direction of Somerville Nicholson, supervisor of assessments. William Plummer and William Lemert, assessors, worked during their spare time in compiling the information. William Shoemaker, head of the map department, assisted by county representatives, drew the maps.

William Vogtman, city clerk, Mrs. Margaret Kidwell and Mayor Joseph James and Council provided information for the maps.

W. Va. Education Council To Poll Members By Mail

KEYSER — The West Virginia Council on Education will conduct a "ballot by mail" among its members to determine the council's official proposal for bringing state schools up to the national average level, according to W. E. Michael of the Potomac State College faculty. He represented the West Virginia Association of Higher Education at a recent meeting in Charleston.

The chief item of consideration by the four-year-old council is the recommendation of a method of distributing and financing state help for counties.

More than 70 persons from all sections of the state attended the meeting. Appearing before the group were State School Superintendent R. Virgil Rohrbaugh and WVEA Executive Secretary Phares E. Reeded, who outlined a joint plan for consideration. The council will report its reaction in the next 30 days.

Last year the Council on Education, in its survey, found that West Virginia needs $47 million to bring state schools up to the national average level — and proposed that a three-year plan be devised to raise $14 million per year. These objectives were reaffirmed in the recent meeting.

The state department WVEA plan proposed that state money be distributed with half going to improve the "basic foundation" program, and half being offered on an "incentive" matching basis to encourage local effort.

The group, made up of statewide organizations and individual county representatives, also decided to back the "Better Schools Amendment" in the general election November 4.

Rotary Club Meeting Held At Frostburg

FROSTBURG — Ivan C. Diehl was in charge of the program at Monday night's meeting of the Frostburg Rotary Club in Zion United Church of Christ.

Ralph Swauger, director of the Boy's Forest Camp at Lonaconing, explained the use and functions of similar camps in the state. He pointed out that the first such camp for the rehabilitation of delinquents was organized at Green Ridge in 1955 with two others beginning last year, one on Big Savage Mountain west of Lonaconing and the other on Meadow Mountain in Garrett county.

These camps were created by legislative action and are operated by the welfare and forestry departments. Boys for the camps are chosen from two training schools by a guidance committee when they have been judged rehabilitated. They come to these camps to work, are paid and live as a normal citizen. Within 60 to 90 days they are then referred to the courts for release.

Swauger praised the Lonaconing and Frostburg areas for the acceptance of the Big Savage camp, and of their desire to help return these young men to society as useful citizens.

Visitors present at the meeting included William Sternbeitzle, Masontown, Pa.; Thomas J. Wilson, Piedmont; John Stevenson, Rennie Willick and Theodore Bell, Cumberland, and Rev. Samuel Lovak, a guest of Rev. Paul V. Taylor, president of the club.

Haney, Stengel Thinking Of Seventh Game

If the New York Yankees bounce back to make this a seven-game World Series and then win it, they'll match the comeback of the 1925 Pittsburgh Pirates.

The '25 Pirates, managed by Bill McKechnie, were the only team to overcome a 3-1 deficit to win a best-of-seven series.

In the very first series in 1903, when it was best-of-nine competition, the Boston Red Sox, trailing 3-1, fought back to win the next four and defeat the Pirates. Deacon Phillippe pitched five complete games for Pittsburgh in that series.

The immortal Walter Johnson was the victim of the Pirates' comeback on a rain-soaked, muddy field at Pittsburgh 33 years ago. The "Big Train" won the opener, 4 to 1, from Lee Meadows and shut out the Pirates, 4-0, in the fourth game.

Alex Ferguson also won a game, the third, 4-3, after Vic Aldridge had given the Pirates their lone victory at the expense of Stan Coveleskie in the second, 3 to 2.

Aldridge came back in the fifth game to beat Coveleskie for the second time, 6-3, and Ray Kremer took the measure of Ferguson to square the series after six games.

With Johnson going for Washington, manager Bucky Harris figured he had things under control after his club scored four runs in the first inning of the seventh, knocking out Aldridge.

Pittsburgh came up with three in the third but Washington got two in the fourth. After six innings Johnson, although hit hard, had a 6-4 edge.

The Pirates tied the score in the seventh, only to have Washington come back with another in the top of the eighth on Roger Peckinpaugh's homer. That was the setting when Johnson went out for the eighth.

Pittsburgh started to rally. Soon the bases were full. In the gloom of a rainy late October afternoon, Kiki Cuyler came through with a double for the tying and winning runs.

Sports Keg Residue

Gene Mason, city recreation director, says that additional bleachers will give Penn Avenue Field a seating capacity of 2,000 for October 19 when Dick Groat brings his barnstorming major leaguers here to meet the Pen-Mar League All-Stars. . . . Fred Haney's favorite "detective story" concerns the day he was seated in the Detroit Tigers' office with the elder Walter Briggs—millionaire owner of the club, who had sent for Boots Poffenberger, the adventure - loving pitcher from Maryland's Washington County. . . . When Boots arrived, Briggs reached into his desk, withdrew a typewritten report and began reading chapter and verse of Poffenberger's night-life escapades. . . . Boots listened open-mouthed, then asked: "Where did you get all that dope?" . . . "I had a detective follow you," said Briggs triumphantly. . . . "Well, that shows you're not so smart for a millionaire," said Poffenberger. "If you were, you'd have the detective follow the other guys on the club. You know what I'm going to do." . . . There's a young Frostburg man who'd do well to think a little about the World Series, football or something else and not take his love life so seriously. . . . Seems he promised his best gal that he'd take her to see "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" in Cumberland. He bought their tickets and, hand-in-hand, they walked into the theatre. . . . After about an hour they began to realize that maybe they were in the wrong theatre — and they were. . . . They were seated in the Strand and the "Cat" was playing at the Maryland. . . . The extra point, almost automatic in the National Football League, wasn't so matter-of-fact in the loop's six opening games. . . . There were six missed conversion attempts as all 12 clubs swung into action September 28. . . . Cleveland's Lou Groza, daddy of them all as far as placekickers go, was responsible for one of the failures as he had an attempt blocked. . . . George Blanda, Chicago Bear specialist, and Gordy Soltau, who performs the kicking duties for the San Francisco 49ers, were among the others who missed. . . . In only one game — Washington at Philadelphia—were all conversions made good. . . . Did you know that Casey Stengel once drove a taxicab? . . . Before he entered professional baseball in 1910, Casey aimed to become a dentist. . . . To pay his way through school he drove a hack in Kansas City. . . . Casey gave up left-handed dentistry after studying two-and-a-half years.

But Braves' Leader Has Confidence In Spahnie

By JOE REICHLER

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Although the World Series could end today, both managers — Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves and Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees —were thinking of Thursday and a possible seventh and deciding game.

After giving two-time winner Warren Spahn the job of clinching the series in the sixth game today, Haney told reporters: "I'd like to clear it out as quickly as possible, but if we don't do it today, then we got another chance tomorrow."

Has Faith In Spahn

Haney, naturally, expressed faith in Spahn's ability to register his third straight victory over the Yankees and declined to speculate on his seventh game pitcher, if necessary. There was no doubt, however, that Lew Burdette, winner of the second game and loser of the fifth, would be his man.

Stengel was undecided but strongly indicated that he probably would settle upon Whitey Ford today, with Bob Turley his seventh game choice, should the Yankees win.

Ford has started twice and the Yankees have lost both games. The 29-year-old southpaw was charged with one of the defeats and relief ace Ryne Duren the other.

"Ford tells me his arm is all right, and he's my best," said Stengel. "Spahn showed us he's a great pitcher. You've just got to go with your best against a guy like that."

Turley Great Monday

Turley also would be going with two days rest should he pitch the seventh game, if one is necessary. He turned in the best performance of his career Monday, shutting out the Braves 7-0 with a five-hitter to trim the Braves' lead in games to 3-2.

Spahn will have had a bit more than two days rest when he faces the Yankees today. The 37-year-old left-hander said his arm felt fine.

The two lineups depended upon the pitchers. Haney said he would use his right-handed platoon, with Andy Pafko in center field and Joe Adcock at first base, if Ford were to pitch. With a right-hander going for the Yankees, Billy Bruton would be in center and Frank Torre at first.

The Yankee lineup was all set except for third base. Stengel said he will stick with Elston Howard in left field and Yogi Berra behind the plate.

"If Ford pitches for me," he said, "I may play the kid (Bobby Richardson) at third base. Those right-handers of theirs hit it down that way with a left-hander on the mound. And the kid's the best glove man I've got. If a right-hander pitches for me, it might be (Jerry) Lumpe. I seem to remember that he got a hit as a pinch hitter against Sphan in the last series. Now, if I want the long ball, I might play (Andy) Carey."

Grace Methodist Increases Margin

Grace Methodist increased its lead in the City Church Bowling League to two games by defeating Zion Reformed, 2-1, on the Capital alleys while runnerup St. John's Lutheran was dropping a 2-1 decision to St. Luke's Lutheran.

Bill Stevenson starred for the league leaders with a 197 game and 456 set. Charley Robinette hit 204-469 for Zion. Jim Fradiska showed 212-552 for St. Luke's and Leroy Aronholt had 201-472 for St. John's.

In other league action Centre Street Methodist shut out Grace Baptist and Central Methodist took a pair from Trinity Lutheran. Leading scorers were Harry Ranker, 201-511, Centre Street; Bob Robinette, 168 and Russ Bittner, 400, Grace Baptist; Del Proudfoot, 182 and Gene Howell, 435, Trinity; Bub Porter, 197-491 and Jack Shriver, 191-487, Central. SIME BECOMES FOOTBALLER—Duke University's track star Dave Sime dons football togs as he reports for Blue Devil football practice. Coach Bill Murray says Sime will be used as a "lonesome end." (AP Photofax)

Duke Making Gridder Out Of Dash Star

DURHAM, N. C. (UPI)—Dave Sime, the world's fastest human in the 100-yard dash, will roam the gridiron as a "lonesome" end for Duke's Blue Devils against Baylor here Saturday.

Sime, holder of the world's record in several dash events, was an all-state halfback in high school days at Fairlawn, N. J. Now a medical student with one year of athletic eligibility left, he used to show up at Duke's football practices to keep in shape—catching passes and kicking the football.

So when Duke unveiled its "lonesome" end play last week against Illinois, it occurred to Murray that the best attribute for such a player would be speed.

And who is speedier than Sime? In addition he's a deft pass-catcher and, Murray says, "probably the best kicker on our team."

Murray persuaded Sime to come out for football. He reported for practice for the first time late Tuesday afternoon and caught several passes during the offensive workout.

Sime will play only on offense but "will play actively — he's not just going to be a decoy," Murray added.

Hockey Coaches In Debut Tonight

By United Press International

Three new coaches make their debut tonight when Rochester visits Buffalo and Springfield hosts Providence in the opening games of the 1958-59 American Hockey League season.

Bucko McDonald is the first-year leader at Rochester. Bobby Kirk will lead the Buffalo Bisons and the Springfield Indians will be coached by newcomer Glen Sonmor.

The Hershey Bears and Cleveland Barons, the other two teams in the circuit, don't get underway until Saturday when the Bears are host to Providence and Cleveland engages Rochester at homes.

Hershey, regular season and Calder Cup champion last year, and Cleveland, runnerup to the Bears, are expected to fight it out for the title once again this season.

BleedingBahama Scores Knockout

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Yama Bahama, bleeding from a cut over his right eye from the fourth round on, still piled up an impressive lead and knocked out Jesse Bogart in the final round of a 10-round bout Tuesday night.

Bahama, from Bimini in the Bahama Islands, weighed 153 and Bogart, of Monterrey, Mexico, 156.

The 10th ranked middleweight, Bahama bled profusely and needed four stitches to close the cut.

Yankees Rule 6-5 Favorites Today

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The Yankees were 6-5 favorites to win today's sixth game of the World Series.

However, the Braves, holding a 3-2 lead in victories, remained 3-1 favorites to win the series.

The oddsmakers announced various "conditional" prices on the sixth game, depending on Casey Stengel's pitching nomination, but conceded the Yankees a slight edge.

All-Stars Sign Pitcher Arnie Portocarrero

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pitcher Arnold Portocarrero of the Baltimore Orioles has signed to play with Mickey Mantle's All - Stars against a Willie Mays' National League team at Yankee Stadium Sunday. Portocarrero, a right-hander, had a 15-11 record this season and posted a 3.25 earned-run average.

Mantle Would Pick Himself To Hurl Today

By ED WILKS

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Tuesday was family day during the Milwaukee Braves' workout. Catcher Del Crandall had his two sons in tow at County Stadium. Eddie Mathews brought along Eddie Jr., decked out in a baseball uniform, an outsized cap and cowboy boots.

Mickey Mantle had his own ideas about who Yankee Manager Casey Stengel should name to pitch the sixth World Series game. "If I was manager," said Mick, "I know who I'd pick — me."

Mantle, who has a knuckler some folks say is the best in the American League, was told his pitch only works in the East. It's no good in the West. "No, sir," said Mick. "With the wind blowing out toward center, I'd be throwing into it, and they'd never hit it."

A parking problem has popped up. During the first two games of the series last week, "emergency areas" connected with the construction of an expressway that will pass near the Braves stadium was used. But heavy rain washed out those extra spaces, cutting available parking spaces from 12,000 to 10,000.

Braves' pitcher Warren Spahn said he couldn't remember the last time he pitched with only two days' rest (it was May, 1956, and he lost), then recalled the "Spahn, Sain and pray for rain" line of the 1948 race. That's when Spahn won 15, Johnny Sain 24 as the then Boston Braves won the pennant, and it seemed as though those two pitched every victory toward the end.

Spahn mentioned that Sain's uniform number with the Braves was 33. That's the number now worn by Lew Burdette — the pitcher who came to the Braves in 1951 in a trade that sent Sain to the Yankees.

Casey Pleads For Rain For 'Four Days'

By JERRY LISKA

MILWAUKEE (AP) — It sounded a little like the crumbling of a dynasty — Emperor Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees pleading for rain to delay the World Series.

But there was the cagey old phrase-twister saying: "I hope it rains — I hope it rains for four days."

Stengel was holding court in New York's dressing room before his Yankees worked out Tuesday under murky, weeping skies.

He was playing cat-and-mouse with reporters over his probable starting pitcher against the Milwaukee Braves' slick Warren Spahn in today's sixth series game.

'Trying Out Spahn?'

"You fellows should know I'm trying out Spahn in this workout," said Stengel. "Want to see if he can go tomorrow."

Spahn? Reporters scratched their heads and looked at each other.

"Spahn, did I say Spahn," Stengel recouped. "I mean Shantz. Hell, I guess I really got that Spahn on my brain.

"Now you take that Spahn. I'm not surprised they're going with him. He's their best pitcher and Haney's got two games to gamble with. Me, I got one, and I gotta guess right.

"Spahn beats us two games and the longer each game goes, the better he gets. He starts out with a nice small white ball and pretty soon, along about the seventh, eighth and ninth innings, it begins to look like a pill which gets smaller and smaller to our fellows.

Ford Confident

"So we're one run down to them (20-19), but we're stinking in every department but pitching. Look it up. We strike out more of them (41-31), but we look awful running the bases and fielding.

"Ford thinks he can beat them. Every one of those guys of mine want to pitch this one. Ford thinks he is the pitcher for this sixth one and Turley pitches the seventh.

"Turley might be a better pitcher after two days rest, but I don't know how he could be better than Monday. He's a Spahn-type pitcher, never a sore arm. He's got an arm like a rubber hose."

Saxton Scores Comeback Win

HOLYOKE, Mass. (UPI)—Former welterweight champ Johnny Saxton of New York City today appeared to have a long way to go in his comeback bid to regain the crown.

Fighting Tuesday night for the first time in nearly two years, Johnny squeezed out a split decision 10-round victory over Barry Allison, 148, of Springfield — a boxer he defeated with much less effort more than two years ago.

Saxton, weighing in at 151¼, resorted mainly to in - fighting to beat Allison, who recently lost the New England middleweight championship. The two time welter champ was twice warned for low blows during the bout before a small crowd at Valley Arena. There were no knockdowns and neither fighter was cut.

Garden State Opens Today

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP)—Garden State Park opens its 25-day fall meeting today with the 16th running of the $20,000 added Princeton Handicap.

Calumet Farm's Bardstown, with Ismael Valenzuela up, heads a fast field of seven entires with top weight of 122 pounds for the inaugural six-furlong stake.

Chief opposition for the 6-year-old Alibhai-Twilight Tear gelding would appear to be Fred W. Hooper's 3-year-old Alhambra, who carries second highest weight at 120.

Valley Booters Need Rally To Gain 1-1 Tie With Bruce

Valley High's Black Knights have won the championship of the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League the past five years but haven't been able to get the upper hand on arch-rival Bruce of Westernport.

Each year since 1955 the Bulldogs have helped spoil a perfect season for the champions by battling them to a tie game. They did it again yesterday, Valley having to come from behind in the final quarter to salvage a 1-1 deadlock on the Westernport field.

Three Tie Games

Last campaign the Bruce booters fought a 1-1 draw with the Knights and lost a 1-0 contest. In 1956, Bruce had a 2-2 deadlock and loss to coach Johnny Meyers' team. Three years ago the Westernporters lost one of the two games but had a 2-2 draw. In 1956-57, defeats by Valley cost Bruce a chance at the title as the Bulldogs wound up in second place.

A goal by Jim Pollock yesterday with less than a minute to play kept Valley undefeated. Coach Leonard Ritchie's Bulldogs had led throughout the contest after Bruce tallied on Ronald Chiccehitto's goal with an assist from Russell Raines in the second quarter.

A penalty kick with a minute remaining for Valley's Pollock was blocked by Bruce goalie John Price but the shot was so hard the Bulldog goalie was unable to pick up the ball and Pollock, following through, booted the ball home for the tying goal.

The game was the opener for Bruce while Valley had launched the campaign last Friday with a 5-0 triumph over Mt. Savage.

Beall Takes Lead

Beall of Frostburg took over the lead in the circuit by posting its second triumph in as many tries in edging Mt. Savage, 2-1, on the losers' field.

Beall got markers in the first and second periods and held off the Indians who got their lone tally in the final minute of the fourth quarter.

Jim Gardner's goal put the Mountaineers in front, 1-0, in the opening heat with an assist from Ronnie Carter. The game-winning point came in the second quarter on Jim Duncan's penalty kick.

The Indians, looking for their first victory, came back in the fourth period with a goal when Gary Duckworth kicked a point with an assist from Ed Trimble. The losers lost a chance for a deadlock shortly after their score but missed a penalty kick.

Outstanding players in the Valley-Bruce contest were George Lauder, Hank Winner, Teddy Wilson and Clifford Metts for Valley and Robert Metz, Roy Beard, Chiccehitto and Price for Bruce.

Best players for Beall were Alfred Kamauff, Paul Petenbrink, Jim Duncan and Gardner while Mt. Savage's outstanding booters were Dale Hott, Ed Trimble, Leroy Morris and Tom Deffinbaugh.

Metts, Valley center forward, suffered an injury to a muscle in his right leg in a fourth quarter scrimmage and may be lost to the team for some time.

Arizona End Top Receiver

By The Associated Press

Anyone who read the University of Arizona's football brochure before the start of the 1958 college football season and then looked at the offensive statistics in its first three games must have done a double take.

The big mystery is Dave Hibbert, a rangy end who has caught 16 passes in three games, to take the leadership in that department according to figures released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau in New York. Hibbert is not listed in the brochure.

Hibbert had a good day last Saturday against Tulsa with five receptions to jump from fourth place. He has not scored but has netted his team 160 yards.

Second is Ulmo Randle of Virginia, with 14 receptions in three games for 244 yards and two touchdowns while Cal Bird of Kentucky has snagged 13 in three games, scoring twice and gaining 192 yards.

Charley Milstead of Texas A&M leads the nation's punters with a 49.9 yards average on eight punts. Georgia's Bob Walden has kicked 12 times for a 47.7 average, while Don Coker of North Carolina has a 46.7 average on seven punts.

Cotton To Get Test Tonight

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) —Sonny Ray of Chicago offers Eddie Cotton of Seattle his first test of the year tonight in a scheduled 10-round light-heavyweight fight at Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Both were expected to weigh about 171 pounds for the nationally televised (ABC, 9 p.m. EST) bout. Scoring will be on the 5-point system.

Ray, now 23, has an 18-5-5 record, including three victories — two by knockouts — in four matches with light - heavyweight contender Jesse Bowdry.

Cotton has a 35-7-1 record in a career spanning almost 11 years. He quit the ring in 1956 because of his slow progress and, last year, one of his few fights was a losing decision to Archie Moore.

George Alusik of Elizabeth, N. J., rookie outfielder brought up by the Detroit Tigers at the end of the season, batted .325 in 105 games for Augusta in the Class A Sally League.

Giants Trade Two Pitchers To Cardinals

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals today added two more pitchers to their staff, one a rookie and the other a grizzled veteran, as a result of a three-for-two deal with the San Francisco Giants. No cash was involved.

The Redbirds got righthanders Ernest Broglio, 23, and 40-year-old Marv Grissom Tuesday in exchange for right-handed Billy Muffett, catcher Hobie Landrith and third baseman Benny Valenzuela.

Broglio, who had an 8-1 record and an earned run average of 4.34 with Phoenix in the Pacific Coast League and was 9-3 with Toronto in the International League, was believed to be the main object of the Cardinals in the trade. Broglio had a 3.00 era in the International circuit.

Grissom pitched in 5' games for the Giants this year and had a 7-5 mark.

Muffett, 27, star hurler for the Cards in 1957, had only a 4-6 mark this past season. Valenzuela, 25, spent most of last season with the Cards' Omaha club and 28-year-old Landrith, already a nine-year veteran of big league play, hit only .215 last year.

Art Lewis May Switch Lineup

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —Coach Art Lewis said today there may be some changes made in West Virginia University's starting lineup Saturday unless his players display more hustle.

In an apparent effort to get more life in the Mountaineers, announced that "I'm going to use the 11 players who prove in the week's work that they really want to see action."

Only one lineup change has been made thus far. Dick Guesman was chosen to start at right tackle in place of Jim Hillen, who is nursing an injured knee.

Global Golf Starts Today

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (UPI) —The four - man United States golf squad, captained by the immortal Bobby Jones, displayed renewed confidence today as play got underway in the World Amateur team championship.

The Yanks and Britain were regarded as co - favorites for this brand new competition for the Eisenhower Cup, which attracted teams from 29 countries.

Under the special tournament rules adopted by the World Amateur Golf Council, the championship is a 72-hole medal play affair. Each team is permitted to total the scores of its three leading players at the end of each 18-hole round. The cup will be awarded to the team with the lowest aggregate score at the conclusion of Saturday's final round.

Jones, who gained the first leg on his historic grand slam by winning the British Amateur at St. Andrews 28 years ago, has a strong team ready to shoot the works on the rugged old course.

Charley Coe of Oklahoma City, Okla., the current U. S. amateur king, tops the Yanks' lineup. Other members of the team are long ball hitting Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C., Bill Hyndman III of Philadelphia, and Dr. Frank Taylor of Pomona, Calif.

BEES SHOW PROFIT

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)— The Salt Lake City Bees baseball club has reported a profit of $15,000 in its first year in the Pacific Coast League.

Touch Grid Loop Opens On Sunday

An adult touch football league will be in operation this fall with the schedule to start Sunday at Penn Avenue Field, according to Gene Mason, City Rec director, this morning.

Four teams were represented at a meeting last night with Lee Cover and Ed Downton being elected co-chairmen.

Mason said that he would like to have at least two more teams and has extended the deadline for entries to tomorrow. Teams interested should contact the Rec Department at PA 2-7360.

The four clubs definitely in the fold this year are Lee Cover's 49ers, Jim Baker's Colts, Ed Downton's Exports and Jim Ellsworth's Lions.

Each team is required to post a five-dollar entry fee to cover the cost of referees and a five-dollar forfeit fee which will be returned at the end of the season. The entire cost of the league operation will be covered by the team.

Maxwell Sets Record

DETROIT— (UPI) —Outfielder Charley Maxwell of the Detroit Tigers set a major league record by playing errorless ball through 193 games during 1957 and 1958.

Cavalcade, winner of the 1934 Kentucky Derby, beat the great Discovery five times. Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloan's brown colt won 8 races in 22 states.

Virginia Star Tops Passers

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — The forward passers are making the big individual offense noise in the early Atlantic Coast Conference football race.

Reece Whitley, Virginia's senior quarterback, leads the ACC in total offense with 520 yards—459 of them gained passing. Norman Snead, Wake Forest's sophomore quarterback, ranks second in total offense with 335 yards—all of it passing.

Whitley is a definite threat to the ACC total offense record of 1,038 yards set by Clemson's Harvery White last season. He also is a threat to the conference passing record of 68 completions and 1,045 yards set by South Carolina's John Gramling in 1953.

Neil MacLean of Wake Forest is the big rusher to date in the ACC, according to the first weekly report of the conference service bureau. MacLean has 263 yards rushing to lead second-place Wray Carlton of Duke by 48 yards.

Best per-play average, overall, belongs to Snead at 6.6 yards a try. The best rushing average is owned by Buster Ledford of Wake Forest, 8.3 yards a carry.

Liquor Leaders Post Victories

Spa Bar suffered its first game loss in four matches but still paces the South End Liquor Dealers Bowling League by two, as Frank's Tavern also was able to muster only a 2-1 victory. Spa topped 4th District Democratic Club and Frank's won over VFW.

In other action at the Capital Alley's King's Tavern shut out Nine's Restaurant and Lynn & Racey topped Wonder Bar, 2 to 1.

Curt Twigg of Wonder Bar marked up the wek's top set — 586 — with his high game being 207. Other leaders were Charley Robinette, 226-497, Lynn & Racey; Ed McKay, 221-548, VFW; Lou Bell, 209-552, Spa; Leroy Biggleman, 193-472, Frank's; Joe Grim, 184-499, Democrats; Bill Gordon, 146-396, Nine's, and Herlie Cutlip, 164 and Ace Harper, 419, King's. Three-Time Winner

LOS ANGELES— (UPI) —First baseman Steve Bilko, now with the Los Angeles Dodgers, is the only man ever to win the Pacific Coast League's Most Valuable Player award more than once. He won it three times, in 1955, 1956 and 1957 while with the Los Angeles Angels.

Spartan Star Voted Week's No. 1 Lineman

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

A vital pass interception that saved Michigan State from a surprise defeat at the hands of Michigan brought Lineman of the Week honors today to Jim Chastain.

This is how the MSU junior center from Waynesburg, Pa. saved the day for the Spartans in the game last Saturday. At the time, early in the last period, Michigan led 12-6 and was threatening again. The Wolverines had the ball on the MSU 7 third down and goal to go.

Gets On Goal Line

Michigan quarterback Bob Ptacek faded back and threw a forward pass. Chastain intercepted the pass on the goal line. He downed on the three and from there Michigan State started a 97-yard drive for a touchdown and a 12-12 tie, the final score.

Two other centers, Bob Harrison of Oklahoma and E. J. Holub of Texas Tech, also received high praise in the weekly Associated Press poll of sportswriters and broadcasters.

Harrison intercepted an Oregon pass and ran 24 yards to the Oregon 20. The play led to the only touchdown of the game as the Sooners nipped Oregon 6-0. In addition, Harrison made eight tackles and shared in seven others.

Six Unassisted Tackles

Holub's great defensive work against Texas held the Longhorns to a 12-7 victory. He made six unassisted tackles and was credited with nine assists. In addition he broke up one pass and recovered a fumble.

Pete Wasilewski, George Washington tackle, and Murray Armstrong, Tennessee end, were prominent, too. Wasilewski kicked a 23-yard field goal with less than two minutes to play and brought GW an 11-8 victory over Furman. Armstrong figured in Tennessee's surprise victory over Miss State with a 55-yard pass interception.

Other linemen nominated:

Tackles — Wayne Harris, Arkansas. Opie Bandy, Tulsa, Hogan Wharton, Houston.

Guards — John Bodkin, South Carolina, Al Ecuyer, Notre Dame, Tom Koenig, Southern Methodist. John Wooten, Colorado.

Ends — Buddy Dial, Rice. Wahoo McDaniel, Oklahoma.

Groat Lists Lineups For Contest Here

Dick Groat has announced the lineup and batting order for his all-star baseball team that will meet the Pen-Mar League stars Sunday afternoon, October 19, at Penn Avenue Field.

The captain and shortstop of the Pittsburgh Pirates said all of the positions are certain except first base and hinted that a major leaguer may be on hand to hold down that slot.

Chuck Tanner of the Chicago Cubs will lead off and play center field for the Groat barnstormers. Nellie Fox, all-star second baseman of the Chicago White Sox, will bat second and play second, while shortstop Groat has put himself in the No. 3 batting slot and has made Jerry Lynch of the Cincinnati Redlegs the cleanup hitter. Lynch is an outfielder in the majors but will be seen in the exhibition game here at third base.

Jerry Lynch

Groat's "mystery" first baseman is slated to bat fifth, while pitcher Ronnie Kline of the Pirates will hit in the sixth position.

A couple of minor leaguers complete the lineup. "Moon" Statler will play right field and Ace Wise of Martinsburg will catch for the Groats.

Face To Pitch

Roy Face, whose brilliant relief pitching was one of the big reasons for the Pirates' surprisingly strong second-place finish in the 1958 National League race, will hurl for the barnstormers.

Face appeared in 57 games for the Pirates this year, striking out 47 batters in 84 innings and compiling a 2.89 earned-run average while winning five games and losing two. He was credited with making 26 saves.

Kline, the Bucs' tough - luck pitcher, won 13 games and lost 16 with an ERA of 3.53.

Incidentally, Groat and Fox both batted an even .300 this year. Fox has a lifetime average that is close to .300 and has played in seven All-Star games. Nellie led the American League in hits this year with 187.

Profit To Little League

Groat has batted in the select circle for two straight years. In 1957 he hit .315, fifth best average in the National League.

The Penn Avenue Field contest is being sponsored by the Cumberland Dapper Dan Club with profit going towards a Little League park for this city.

Bill Keegan, who is promoting the contest, said tickets will probably be placed on sale Friday. They may be secured at the Sports Shoppe, Wilson Hardware Company, Nu-Way Shoe Shop, Spa Bar, Gallen's Tavern, Goodfellowship Club, Knights of Columbus Home, Vogue Bar, Cas Taylor's Tavern and Geatz' Cafe.

Keegan said women will be admitted for a reduced price as sort of a "ladies day" attraction. Admission will be $1.50 for men, $1 for women and 50 cents for children.

City Softball Loop Dinner Set Tonight

Co-champions Hermans and Knights of Columbus will be awarded trophies tonight at the dinner of the City Softball League on the first floor of the K of C Home, North Mechanic Street.

Tickets may be purchased from representatives of the five teams and admission will be by ticket only.

Giants Get Lineman

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Giants have signed Melwood (Buss) Guy, a 243-pound offensive guard and tackle. Guy was drafted by the Cleveland Browns, but released before the season opened. The Giants have asked waivers on quarterback Tom Dublinski to make room for the former Duke University lineman.

Air Academy's Martin Picked Week's Coach

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — From now on when you talk about the big military academy football teams, be sure to include the Air Force Academy right in there with Army and Navy — because the Falcons' 13-13 tie with Iowa Saturday means they're now a big-time team.

More than 800 Air Force cadets who paid their own way to Iowa City to see the game saluted the new era with a wild celebration on the field.

And United Press International also salutes it today by naming Falcon Coach Ben Martin, one-time two-sport star at Navy, its football "coach of the week."

The Air Force got its football program into orbit right on schedule. It aimed for the 1958 season, because this is the first year that the "wild blue yonder" boys have seniors on the squad. The season got off the launching pad a week ago with a 37-6 trouncing of Detroit and the tie with Iowa, which had been ranked No. 8 nationally, was confirmation of an orbit.

Job For January

DENVER (UPI)—Don January of Lampsas, Tex., has been named golf pro at the Pinehurst Country Club, January, on the pro circuit for the past three years, starred on the North Texas State College golfing team.

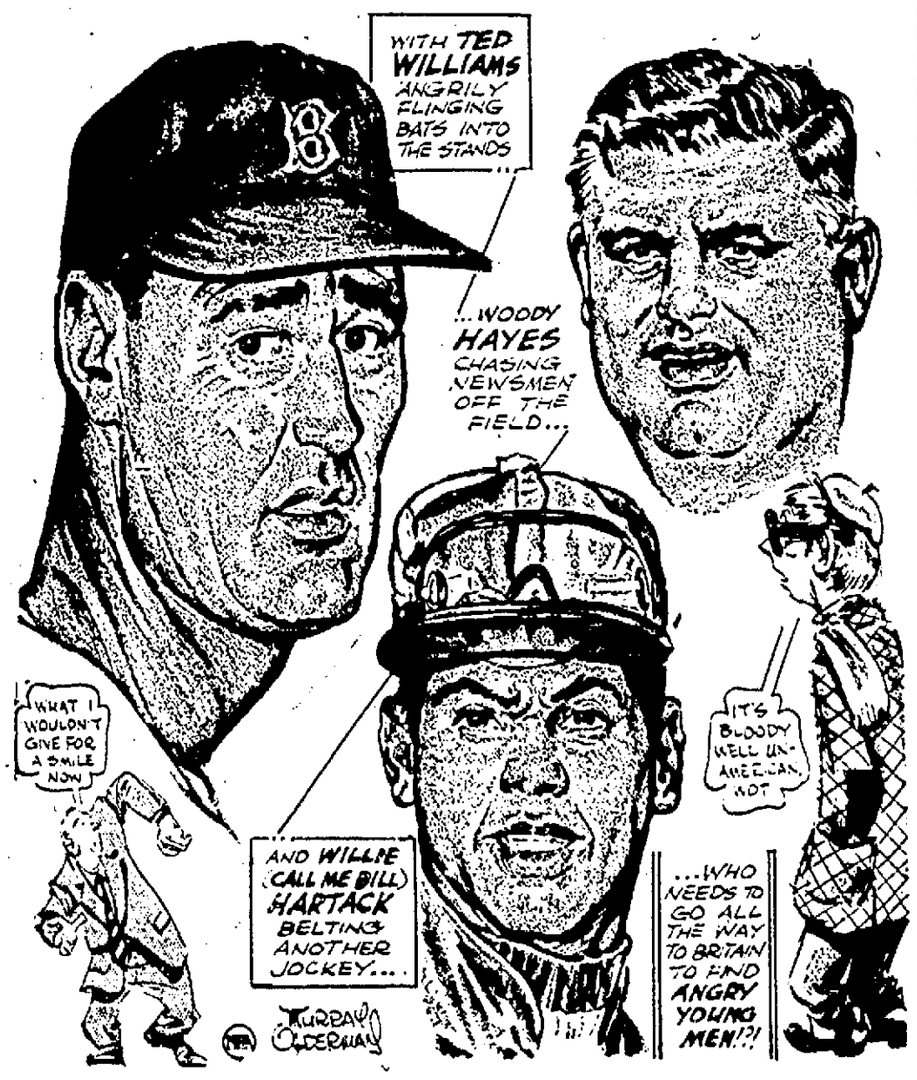
TEMPERS OF THE TIMES



Court Rejects Bruner's Plea For His Life

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Supreme Court today turned down Elmer David Bruner in his attempt to avoid the electric chair for the slaying of Mrs. Ruby Miller, 58, at Huntington last year.

The court was unanimous, 5-0, in holding that Bruner got a fair trial in Cabell County Common Pleas Court at Huntington, and that a confession admitted in evidence at the trial was not obtained from him by coercion.

Those were the main points in the appeal in behalf of the 41-year-old condemned man. He had been sentenced to be electrocuted on Sept. 27, 1957, after a jury convicted him the previous June 29 of first degree murder without a mercy recommendation.

The execution date was put off as a result of appeals to the Cabell County Circuit Court and the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court remanded the case back to the Common Pleas Court for "necessary" action—meaning the setting of a new execution date for Bruner.

The Supreme Court opinion, written by Judge Leslie E. Given, said of the confession:

Treated Fair

"We are firmly of the view that nothing occurred in the course of the examination or questioning of defendant by the officers which amounted to coercion or duress, or which rendered the confession involuntary or inadmissible in evidence.

"On the contrary, we believe the defendant was fairly treated by the officers and his personal and constitutional rights respected and protected."

Gary Moore Show Shoots Off Sparks

Earl Hall Scores With Comedy Song; Carson Gets Kudos

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Garry Moore's new CBS-TV variety show is beginning to shoot off some sparks.

Moore's hour Tuesday night contained some fatty portions, but it also packed some meat. It ran aground on such things as a comedy bit about movie going that involved William Bendix and Carol Burnett and again, on a rendition of "Comes Love" by Marilyn Maxwell. The first was almost torturously unfunny; the second stronger on enthusiasm than on singing skill.

But these were balanced by a fresh and offbeat chunk of fluff that featured Earl Hall in a song about cows and another bit that involved a spoof of the "Whiffenpoof Song" as it might be done by a Fred Waring group. The Whiffenpoof choral team was made up of such whimsies as Hermione Gingold and Marion Lorne and struck me as a pretty delightful chunk of butterscotch.

Now that I've seen both of Moore's nighttime offerings, I would say that its most satisfying trait is its lack of predictability. It has an air of no-formula about it that seems to promise delivery of things other than just songs, dances and jokes. As a result, even when some of its bits fizzle, there's still a feeling of expectancy about things to come.

George Gobel also moved in for his second show of the fall Tuesday night, but it fell below the level of his first program. Peggy Lee made some exciting sounds and Phyllis Avery, Gobel's new TV wife, made some pleasant sounds, but for the most part, it was just a moderately amusing hour.

I find Johnny Carson a charming fill-in for NBC-TV's vacationing Jack Paar—he is bright, easeful and cute without being cuddly ...ABC - TV's "Rifleman" Tuesday night was a crisp swatch of half-hour...Barbara Nichols turned up on NBC-TV's "Dragnet" Tuesday night and gave the show a glossy comic touch.

The Channel Swim: Prince Rainier and Princess Grace of Monaco will be seen on Dec. when ABC-TV presents a special one hour telecast of "The Imperial Ball" from a Manhattan hotel... Jackie Gleason and Jack Benny probably will trade guest appearances on their CBS-TV shows this season. Benny, incidentally, has been booked in for violin concerts this season in Tokyo and Rio De Janeiro.

ABC-TV's Pat Boone will have seven cowboy stars on his Oct. 16 show including Jim Garner and Jack Kelly of "Maverick," Ty Hardin of "Cheyenne" and Will Hutchins of "Sugarfoot" . . . All of the NBC-TV "Arthur Murray Party" programs are taped on Sunday for Monday showing...CBS-TV's Tuesday night line - up of "Name That Tune," "The Texan," "Father Knows Best," "Danny Thomas Show," "Ann Sothern Show" and the "Lucille Ball-Desi Arnaz Show" dominated the Trendex ratings.

Drag Racing, Anyone

Monsters on wheels, these four weirdly styled and very hot-looking hot-rods are among the entries in the 1958 National Championship Drag Races at Oklahoma City, Okla. At right, top, is an early American Bantam Austin with a Chrysler engine amidships. Center is a 1927 Ford with "chopped" top and driver's seat ahead of the windshield. Next is a "wingless airplane" with driver's seat in the tail. Below, left, is the "2-MUCH," a twin-engined job that can accelerate to 154.97 miles per hour in 9.67 seconds.

29 Oak Wilt Areas Found In District

A recent air reconnaissance over the four westernmost counties of Maryland disclosed that 29 woodland areas were infected with oak wilt.

William H. Johnson, district forester, said the areas extended from the Savage River Dam section in Garrett County east to the Clear Spring area in Washington County.

To date, a total of 23 of the infected areas have been eradicated by a forestry crew led by Thomas Dixon, forest guard of Green Ridge state forest.

Some 812 man hours were spent in the eradication program and the men traveled a distance of 1,852 miles in a 28-day period.

Five of the infected areas, Mr. Johnson said, have been set up as a study plot for five years' investigation into the spread of the disease. It is hoped to prove or disprove the merits of respective control measures now used by agencies in Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

In Maryland the practice has been to cut the infected trees and treat the logs with insecticides and fungicides, the premise being that this would prevent the formation of spores or fungal-mats dispersing spores from the wood.

In addition all oak trees within 50 feet of infection have been either cut, or girdled and poisoned. This is done to prevent the spread of disease by root grafts. For the most part, he said, control measures used by Maryland have been successful in preventing immediate spread in the areas which were located.

SIDE GLANCES — By Galbraith

"Let's go in—maybe a good scare will take my mind off my appetite!"

Dear Abby - - -

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A while back a lady wrote to your column complaining about her husband's loud snoring. I used to snore so bad my husband said I sounded like a thrashing machine. A neighbor of mine told me about an old Italian remedy and I tried it and now my husband has to touch me at night to see if I'm still breathing. Chew a whole clove of garlic before going to bed. That's all.

STOPPED SNORING

DEAR STOPPED: I'm afraid if I tried that remedy I would have to touch my HUSBAND at night to see if HE were still breathing!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 12 years and it's been no picnic for the past two years. We fought all the time so rather than let the children hear the language he used at me, I moved his clothes down to the basement and he's been living down there. He has a hot plate and refuses to come upstairs for meals. The basement has an outside exit and I think he's been having company down there, as I hear laughing and the radio going. He keeps changing the locks on me so I can't get down there. How can I make up with him so we can start living like human beings?

FERN

DEAR FERN: If he refuses to "rise" to the occasion—I suggest you go underground." Peace at any price.

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would put this in your column to let folks know that there are some pretty nice people in the world. Last week a new family moved into our building. Instead of waiting for everyone to call on them, they put up a bushel of apples into little bags and knocked on all the neighbors' doors and gave us the apples. The lady of the house asked, "What time do you retire at night because we want to keep our TV low so you won't be disturbed? Also, have you any invalids or babies who like to nap in the afternoons so we will keep extra quiet?" Now, that's what I call nice people!

DELIGHTED

DEAR DELIGHTED: (and you should be): Neighbors like you just drew would be welcome anywhere. How lucky can you get?

DEAR ABBY: Boy, I take my hat off to anyone who has a green thumb. I am one of those poor souls who is just the opposite and I wonder if maybe there isn't some mysterious reason for it? My little boy gave me a plant for Mother's Day and at first they watered it and it came along fine, but they got tired of the job, so after I watered it twice it died! My Grandmother had a rose bush for years. She asked me to loosen the dirt around the roots. I warned her but she said I was silly. Sure enough, the day after I touched it, it died. Can you tell me what's wrong? I am getting afraid of myself the way I hex things.

NO GREEN THUMB

DEAR NO: I don't believe in "hexing." Just for the fun of it, buy a little plant. Some plants need sun, others need shade. Some need lots of water, others require very little. Go to your nearest florist and ASK him how to care for it. Follow his instructions and you, too, can make things grow.

CONFIDENTIAL to "Big Wheel at the Fraternity House": Just keep right on making those dates and somebody is gonna fix your wagon!

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Rep. Hyde Blasts Labor Bill As 'Sham' Measure

The Kennedy-Ives Bill was a sham and too weak to protect rank and file union members from racketeering leaders, Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde told Frostburg area Republicans last night.

The candidate told the some 150 Republican stalwarts who attended a rally in the Young Men's Republican Club in Frostburg that his opponent has been berating him for suspension of the rules for consideration of the bill.

He said that his opponent, as a labor lawyer, knows that the Kennedy-Ives so-called "labor reform bill" was a sham and even constructive provisions in the law contained flaws that would have resulted in additional uncontrolled power for national union leaders.

No hearings were held on the bill in the House, he said, and a vote for such a bill under such circumstances would have been in dereliction of his duty to the people of Maryland's Sixth Congressional District.

He added that in order to have good unions representative of the rank and file, "we must have legislation which will eliminate the evils and racketeering that have been disclosed by the McClellan Committee."

Rep. Hyde said the C & O Canal Historical Park Bill, defeated by special interest groups, will be introduced by him as soon as Congress reconvenes. He added:

"We have the votes to pass it."

He said his opponent has promised people in his district everything except Pike's Peak.

He said supporters of his opponent say that his political philosophy came dangerously close to fascism.

Mr. Hyde demanded that his opponent be specific.

He urged Western Maryland voters to back James P. Devereux for governor, J. Glenn Beall for U.S. Senator, Robert A. Wallace for attorney general and John A. Derr for comptroller.

Seeking bipartisan support for the GOP slate, Mr. Hyde referred to discriminating Democrats early in his address.

At that moment, lights in the hall went out and he continued a fighting speech for some 10 minutes in the dark.

The dangers of a mixed delegation were stressed by Del. Noel Speir Cook, who spoke for the Republican candidates for the House of Delegates.

He introduced the other members of the GOP team, Delegates Thomas N. Berry, Fred B. Driscoll, Estel C. Kelley, Lester B. Reed and David J. Williams.

Democratic strategists, he said, are telling the voters that if they will elect some Democrats to the Delegation they will be able to get more favorable legislation for Allegany County.

"Nothing," he said, "could be further from the truth. Anyone who knows anything about the working of the General Assembly knows that this body respects the wishes of any county and will go along with the request of the local delegation, regardless of party affiliation."

As evidence, he pointed out that during his first session at Annapolis a special commission brought in a report recommending the abolition of Frostburg State Teachers College.

Could Upset System

The Allegany County Delegation, he said, introduced a resolution condemning the action with respect to the Frostburg institution and asking the House to go on record as rejecting this part of the report.

"The House did just that, without a dissenting vote," Del. Cook reported.

The Democrats, he said, seem to be concentrating on the election of just one man, adding:

"Contrary to being able to get things for Allegany County, this would disrupt the organization of the delegation and the whole county would be at the mercy of this individual, because he could appeal to the Democratic majority in the House, on pure party lines, and it is within the realm of possibility that the time-honored custom of county respect would be ignored and the wishes of the majority of the delegation could be defeated.

"The people of the county," he concluded, "cannot afford to take this chance and this must never happen."

Simeon W. Green, GOP candidate for County Commissioner, told the GOP stalwarts attending the Frostburg rally that the election of a "completely Republican Board that can and will work together is absolutely essential to insure the carrying out of the roads, schools, public institution and public building programs."

He urged all interested in his candidacy to support James Orr and William A. Wilson, his GOP running mates, and assured that all can work together in harmony.

When there is dissension and unfriendliness on the board, he said, "it's not that it is just unpleasant — but actually the people of the county are the losers in the long run."

Green said that if Republican voters will give the whole slate their complete support "we will give you the kind of government Allegany County needs."

allow corporations to issue non-voting stock—even though it has stood unchanged since the present constitution was written in 1872.

That section provides that "in all elections for directors or managers of incorporated companies, every stockholder shall have the right to vote...for the number of shares of stock owned by him..."

Despite this rather plain language, the Legislature some 50 years ago provided that corporation stock could be divided into classes—non-voting, limited voting and full-voting rights.

About two years ago the State Supreme Court held in a test case that the statute was unconstitutional, and the Legislature proposed to remedy the situation through the amendment. It would allow corporations to issue multiple types of stock, including non-voting shares.

Most modern corporations like to be able to issue non-voting stock, especially preferred stock. Sponsors of the amendment say the change is needed to remove a serious obstacle to the organization of new corporations in West Virginia.

Cleaner Charged

BECKLEY, W. Va. (UPI)—Police charged Tuesday that Leon Jordan, manager of a dry-cleaning establishment here, faked a break-in of the place early Monday to cover a shortage of funds. A warrant was sworn out accusing him of embezzling $2,100 in store funds.

County Receives Road Complaint

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has received a road complaint from Don Glassman, who owns a home at the intersection of Maniford Road and Town Creek.

He said the road to the entrance of his home is covered with bare clay which becomes extremely slippery after a rain. Glassman said a hazard for school buses and other vehicles is created.

He asked in his letter if it were possible to add a gravel top dressing to the road thus avoiding a possible serious accident.

NO TEDDY, THIS — Just about able to reach the paw of this male Alaskan brown bear is three-foot Bruce Sherman of Beachwood Village, Ohio. The enormous bear, which stands eight feet tall, was recently placed on display at the Cleveland Museum of Natural History. It was killed in Alaska, the only place where bears of such size are found.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn)—Take advantage of good offers, sage advice, and helping hands. Use every minute possible to strive after worthwhile goals. You CAN achieve!

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius)—As a starter, look to Capricorn for advice. Anything worth while is worth the effort to attain it. Just be sure you are not wasting energies on worthless projects.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces)—Don't jump to conclusions or get ahead of yourself. Coordinated effort is best. Maintain a steady tempo. Take all things in stride. Good Neptune aspects.

No Action Taken On Liquor License

No action was taken at yesterday's meeting of the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverages License Commission on the application to transfer the Potomac Fruit Market's liquor license from the intersection of North Centre and Frederick streets to LaVale.

A remonstrance containing the names of 59 persons from LaVale opposing the transfer has been filed with the board. Presumably, the board wishes to wait until Estel C. Kelley is able to attend a meeting before setting a hearing date on the remonstrance.

Only two board members, Stanley Hamilton and Howard Vandegrift, were present.

that Bruner could not receive a fair trial in Cabell County because of publicity given the case. The high court said evidence to back up this claim was not presented.

No Error

Given said the appelate judges could "see no error" in the decision of Common Pleas Judge John W. Daniel in overruling a change of venue motion. The opinion observed that "it cannot be doubted that many citizens of Cabell County...had formed an opinion as to the guilt of the defendant," but added:

"There is nothing in the record to establish, or even indicate, that such opinions or prejudice was so wide or extensive as to prevent obtaining a fair and impartial jury..."

In the confession, Bruner admitted entering the home of Mrs. Miller — wife of a prominent Huntington contractor — for the purpose of burglarizing it on May 27, 1957. Mrs. Miller surprised him in the act, the confession said, and he bludgeoned her to death with a hammer.

Midstream Swap Nets Bad Score

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Both South players in one of the Masters' team of four matches chose to open the bidding with one spade.

One North raised his partner to two spades and was delighted when everybody passed. He was less delighted when his partner went down two tricks for a 200-point loss and analysis showed that East and West could not make a game against proper defense.

Nevertheless, his side did all right on the hand. At the other table North decided that his three points and four little trumps did not warrant any action at all and passed.

East reopened with a double and West bid two hearts. At this point North decided that he could afford to bid and gave a delayed raise by two spades.

East did what any sensible person would do. He doubled and since that second double was for business West left it in. Again South was down two tricks but this time the penalty was 500 points, not 200.

North really should not have swapped horses in midstream. He had chosen to pass at his first turn to bid. His partner had not been able to rebid and North still held the same bid hand he had started with.

Court Martial Scheduled For Group Of GIs

Eleven Assigned To Research Work For Army Charged

EDGEWOOD, Md. (AP) — Eleven young enlisted men who do scientific research for the Army will be tried on drunk and disorderly conduct charges by a special court martial.

Brig. Gen Harold Walmsley, commander of the Army Chemical Center here, yesterday ordered the trial and said it probably would take place in about two weeks.

Gen. Walmsley said he would name the members of the court today.

A special court martial is the middle category of the three types of trial the Army uses. Conviction carries punishment ranging up to six months confinement and loss of two-thirds of pay for that period.

A special court is usually made up of half a dozen or more officers and enlisted men. A summary court martial, heard by one officer, is for minor infractions, and a general court hears the most serious charges.

The defendants, who range from 19 to 24 years, are accused of being drunk and disorderly at a party for departing comrades at the Otter Point Boat Club. A nearby resident complained of the noise, and State Police arrested the men and turned them over to Army officials.

One of the accused aired his gripe in a lengthy letter to Baltimore attorney Hyman Pressman, who said he has agreed to serve as their counsel without fee. Pressman urged Army Secretary Brucker in a letter to "intervene and prevent the destruction" of enlisted men's morale at the base. He said the men were signing anti-Army songs during a farewell party, and suggested that it's a soldier's time-honored privilege to gripe.

County Has 37,623 Eligible To Vote

When Allegany County voters go to the polls November 24 there will be 37,623 eligible to vote, according to figures released by the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors.

Irvin J. Neat, Republican registrar and chief clerk of the board, said that the registered voters include 37,239 white persons, 383 Negroes and one of Oriental extraction.

Republicans retain a healthy 5,212 voter margin, according to the registration figures but that was reduced by 93 as a result of registration action between the May 20 primary election and the closing of the poll books September 22. They will not be reopened until 15 days after the November 4 general election.

There now are 21,284 registered Republicans, 10,786 men and 10,498 women, and 16,071 Democrats, 8,356 men and 7,715 women. There also are 256 voters, 179 men and 77 women, who declined to list political preference; 10 Socialists, six men and four women, and two others, one man and one woman, belonging to other parties.

Between the reopening of the registration books June 2 and their closing September 22, some 878 new voters were signed up. Some 482 or 54.9 per cent, registered Democratic and 389 or 44.3 were Republicans. The new Democrats include 269 men and 213 women. The new Republicans include 203 men and 186 women. There also were seven new registrants, four men and three women, who declined to state political preference.

The largest precinct in the county is District 4-4 and 8, A to L, voting at Johnson Heights School, which has 939 registered voters. They include 511 Republicans, 417 Democrats and 11 independents. Next is District 28-1 and 2, voting at Beall Elementary School in Frostburg, with 903 voters, 603 Republicans, 296 Democrats and four independents.

Former Local Man Injured

A former Cumberland man, Denzil Oates, 56, was admitted to a Coatesville, Pa., hospital about a week ago for treatment of injuries sustained when a tractor he was operating overturned. He lived at 707 Baker Street here.

Oates was at first reported in critical condition from a serious head injury. The accident occurred the afternoon of September 30 at Ingleside Farm near Coatesdale where he was working for his brother, Guy Oates.

As Oates backed the tractor toward a wagon, it descended the edge of a bank and overturned. The machine made a complete turn, striking the operator as it went over.

The injured man formerly was employed by the Western Maryland Railway Company. He plans to return to Cumberland after recuperating from his injuries.

Bell claimed the lower court had no jurisdiction under the Taft-Hartley Act and that under provisions of a contract between a trucking association and the Teamsters union, Bell was not required to haul the cargo under such circumstances.
